Donna Joan Herman
Oakland, Maryland
vs.
Willis Leroy Herman
1427 North Wells Street
Milwaukee, Wisconsin

No. 4887 Equity in the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a decree for a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII by the plaintiff from the defendant.

The Bill states:

That on the 30th day of May, 1955, she was married to the said Willis Leroy Herman, with whom she resided until October 19, 1956; that although the conduct of your oratrix toward her husband, the said Willis Leroy Herman, has always been kind, affectionate and above reproach, the said Willis Leroy Herman, has, without just cause or reason abandoned and deserted her, and has declared his intention to live with her no longer, and that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for more than eighteen months, is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that your oratrix and the said defendant, Willis Leroy Herman, have had one child born of said marriage, to-wit, Kimberly B. Herman, age nineteen months; that the said defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and resides at 1427 North Wells Street, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and your oratrix is now, and has been for more than one year prior to the filing of this bill, a resident of Garrett County, Maryland.

The bill then prays for a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII of the plaintiff from the defendant, for general relief and for an order of publication.

It is thereupon this 18th day of November, 1958, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, that the plaintiff by having a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 12th day of December, 1958, giving notice to the said absent defendant of the object and substance of this bill, warning him to be and appear in this Court, either in person or by solicitor, on or before the 27th day of December, 1958, to show cause, if any he has, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

No Free Lunch .....

There is no such thing as a free lunch . . . not even when the Government provides it. Every lunch has to be paid for by somebody. The same is true of Government aids, benefits and services.

They are not free. All of these things have to be paid for by somebody, and that somebody is we . . . the people.

There is no such thing as "federal funds." That term is a wolf dressed up in sheep's clothing, and it deceives a lot of us into feeling that whatever we get from the Government is free. Congress does not possess an Aladdin's lamp or a financial wishing well. Neither does the Administration in Washington.

Every dollar the Congress appropriates, and every dollar the Government spends, must come out of the earnings of we . . . the people. There is no one else to pay the bill.

The more the Government spends for free school lunches, for free inland waterways, for free airport terminal and airway services, for free hospital and medical services, for free slum clearance projects, for free farm price support programs, the more the Government must tax us. And that means that each of us has less to spend . . . or to save. Not all taxes are visible. Most of them are not. We see the withholding and excise taxes. But we do not see the multitude of taxes hidden in the price of everything we buy.

The Government has only one source of income. And that income is we . . . the people . . . all of us. The Government does not produce wealth. Only the people do that. The Government consumes wealth. If the Congress appropriates and appropriates, and the Government spends and spends, then all of us are going to be taxed and taxed and taxed. And so will future generations.

If we demand "free lunches" and "free Government aids and services," we must pay the Provider "in taxes."

And this applies also in the 49 states. That's the only way it can be done. So says W. G. Vollmer, president of the Texas and Pacific railway, in a recent editorial in the Dallas Morning News. It is as simple as that.

Webb DeWitt Dies As He Hunts Deer

Had Retired Day Previous From Position Of County Roads Engineer

William Webb DeWitt, aged 60, of Hoyes, who had just retired Sunday night as County Roads engineer, was found dead Tuesday morning near his home after hundreds of volunteers had searched for the man since Monday afternoon.

DeWitt disappeared while deer hunting Monday, the first day of his retirement. He left home between 9 and 10 a. m. His wife asked him if he wanted to take a lunch but he had said he would be home by noon.

When he failed to return a search was begun by some 100 employes of the County Roads department, state police, state foresters, game wardens, volunteer firemen from Accident, Friendsville and Oakland, and hunters.

Some continued the hunt in the rugged mountain area throughout the night. The main group, however, resumed the search at 7 a. m. The man's body was located around 10 a. m., approximately a mile and a half from his home, near the Sebold turn on U. S. 219. James Orme, a hunter from Gathersburg was one of those who first made the discovery.

Authorities said the man apparently died of a heart attack. He had suffered mild attacks in recent months and had decided to retire on account of ill health.

Apparently Mr. DeWitt was stalking a deer at the time of his attack. It was definitely established that he had wounded a deer and was following his trail. Blood stains told the tale and it was learned he had fired his gun at least twice. The gun was set to fire a third time.

Mr. DeWitt was found crouched on the trail, in thick underbrush, apparently having died instantly.

Prior to serving as roads engineer DeWitt had been a cost accountant for the department and had also been employed as a foreman and grader operator during the period of time Maryland had charge of county roads. DeWitt had held the roads engineer job for 14 years, and had supervised the construction of many miles of county roads during his time in office. In anticipation of his retirement he had remarked to Aubrey Brenneman, County Commissioner on Sunday evening, "Tonight at midnight, I'll be a free man." He was "free" less than twelve hours.

He was a native of this county a son of the late David O. and Lactitia Friend DeWitt. He was a member of the Hoyes Methodist church, the American Road Builders association and the County Engineers Association of Maryland.

Survivors include his widow, Verna Speicher DeWitt; two daughters, Mrs. Mary Chipman, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Helen Vitez, Mill Run; a granddaughter, Miss Nancy Turney, at home; two brothers, M. Paul DeWitt, Oakland; and H. Owen DeWitt, Hoyes; a sister, Mrs. May Wilburn, Hoyes, and six grandchildren.

Funeral services are being conducted this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Hoyes Methodist church by Rev. Connell T. Chaney, of the Church of The Brethren. Accident. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Mr. Carlson is married and the father of two daughters, Robyn, 2½, and Chrystal, 4½. They are residing in an apartment at the former Treacy home on Second street. He spent four years in the U. S. They have invited any interested person to come before them to talk over any changes which they feel are needed in the county's laws, or discussion of any new regulations proposed.

Attending the meeting will be State Senator Bernard I. Gonder, Sr., Delegates Leslie E. Savage, Elbert Buckel and Elza E. Bray; and County Commissioners Fred B. Glotfelty, Elra Garletts and Carl A. Schell.

At an informal meeting this past week the House of Delegates members decided that Mr. Savage would serve as chairman of the group while at Annapolis. Mr. Savage was high man on the ticket in the recent election, receiving over three thousand votes.

All the legislators attended a meeting in Annapolis last Wednesday where there was a discussion of the proceedings of the legislative body. LOOK MEAN?—Here are two wildcats brought into the office of the County Commissioners last Friday so that bounty could be collected. These are the first wildcats presented to the Board for quite some time. They were shot and killed on Thanksgiving day by Frank Mattingly, E. W. Jenkins and Coit Jenkins, in the Dry Run section where they were hunting. The mother cat weighed 16½ pounds while the younger one weighed 9 pounds. They were routed out of a huge brush pile.

Deer Kill Hits 503 in 3 Days

Need Only 196 To Surpass All-Time Record Of 698, Reached Last Year

At least five hundred three deer have been killed in Garrett county during the first three days of the six-day open season, it was announced by game officials this morning.

The number was sixteen greater than the total for the first three days of last year and reveals that only 196 deer are needed to surpass the all-time record of 698, reached last year.

The hunting weather was considered ideal for the first two days but yesterday brought a damper to activities with a steady rain. Rain continued today but there was the promise of colder weather for the week-end.

Most of the deer brought in were of moderate weight and four to eight antlers. There were a number of spike bucks. Apparently the biggest rack of horns was credited to Roger Cerne, of Deer Park who downed a 14-pointer weighing 150 pounds. Ronald Dilley, Oakland, had a 13-pointer weighing 168. Heaviest deer, apparently was that of Allen DeWitt, of Crellin who brought down an 8-point weighing 175 pounds.

The number of women entering the picture totaled five, according to available records. These were Alberta Fox, Deer Park, with a 4-pt. 98-pounder; Harriet DeBerry, Deer Park, with a spike, 110-lb; Helen F. Wolfe, Oakland, with a 90-lb spike; and Anna Riggleman, Kitzmiller with a 6-pt 124 pounder.

In one hunting party ten out of sixteen persons had been successful in killing a buck. Among the group were Mr. and Mrs. Owen Frazee.

The tabulation of the several checking stations showed the following figures for the first three days; Mt. Nebo station, 61, 56, 34, total 151; Friendsville, 33, 19, 10, total 62; Grantsville, 54, 39, 20, total 113; Storey's 26, 39, 38, total 103; LaVale barracks, 16, 8, 3, total 27; Westernport, 20, 10, 14, total 44; Hancock, 1, 0, 2, total 3; grand total 503. By the day the totals ran as follows: Monday, 211; Tuesday, 171; Wednesday, 121.

There had been reports circulated by columnists and others in Allegany that good hunting was scarce in Garrett county this year because of the severe winter last year, but these reports certainly are not being found to be accurate.

There is the usual number of hunters this year and more of them are returning to their homes with bucks.

Game wardens reported violations at a minimum. There were the usual arrests for carrying a loaded gun in their automobiles and a few for hunting without a license. Illegal kills appeared to be rather few.

A partial list of the deer kill is found on pages twelve and eight.

The church is yet incomplete but is easily accessible by automobile and is open to visitors of any denomination for worship at any time.

Week-End Is Blustery

Garrett county was hit by a blustery snow storm last Saturday that had the appearance of some of last winter's offerings, but it was of rather short duration.

Two to three inches of snow fell and the winds whipped this into drifts that covered highways and made it necessary to bring out the plows. No roads were blocked but motorists without snow tread tires were cautioned to use chains. The weather partially cleared by Sunday but remained cold and the thermometer registered two degrees below zero.

Monday was clear and cold with Tuesday remaining clear and moderating somewhat. There was a light snow fall on Wednesday, but this turned into rain before evening. Rain continued Thursday morning. There was rain and sleet last Friday which resulted in several wrecks throughout the county.

U. S. CANNOT
"KEEP WORLD PEACE"
By JOHN T. FLYNN

(Editor's Note: John T. Flynn is a noted author, lecturer and radio commentator.)

As we approach again the season of celebration of the birth of the Prince of Peace, we in America are told that our first duty is to "keep world peace." The assumption seems to be that there is some magic formula by which American money, American resources and, if need be, American men can force the warring nations of the world to desist from their endless pastime of tearing each other to pieces.

Because I have been critical of the United Nations, I am constantly bombarded with what has become almost a cliche: "How do you expect us to keep world peace without the United Nations?" The answer, of course, is that we cannot keep world peace, either with or without the United Nations. This may sound harsh. But we must face the truth of the causes of war, and the fact that we live in a world made up of nations which are good, bad and indifferent because they are run by human beings. Neither the United States, nor any other country, has a mandate from God to make the world over in its own image or to dictate to other nations how they should run their affairs. Rulers and nations have been trying this since the beginning of time. And always, in the end, they come to grief.

It is this assertion of the right of one nation to dictate to another nation or people, which is at the root of all the major wars of the world. This is what is known as imperialism. Every major war among nations has stemmed from the assumption by one nation of the right to seize or exploit the people and resources of another nation. Among the nations of Europe and Asia, there are few exceptions to this sin of imperialism. Whether we now call them "good" or "bad" nations, at one time or another they have all roamed the world in order to grab the land, the resources and the people of other countries and exploit them for their own purposes. Some of the worst offenders have been the so-called great "peace-loving" nations of today, such as England and France and Spain—and even little Belgium and Holland. Germany, Italy and Japan were latecomers into the company of the imperialist grabbers. Russia under the czars did her bit, and now, under her communist leaders, is attempting to replace Great Britain as the big imperialist power.

That is why it is impossible for us "to keep world peace." Always there will be those ground under the heel of the imperialist powers who want to be free. And always the imperialist powers themselves will run head-on into each other in their efforts to grab more or hold what they have.

The important point for us, here in America, is that the United States, alone among the nations of the world, was free of this taint of imperialism. We built here a free nation for free men. We had no designs on any other part of the world. And we said to the constantly warring nations of Europe and Asia—keep out! We won't bother you—you have nothing that we want; go ahead fighting your endless wars over your imperialist possessions—that's your business. But keep out of this hemisphere and we'll keep out of yours.

The strange part about this is that it worked—and it worked during many long decades when we had no tremendous military establishment, when our resources were not yet fully developed, when our population was small, and when we were a relatively weak nation compared with the great powers of Europe.

Then we made the fatal mistake of permitting ourselves to become embroiled in a European quarrel. We went into the First World War—and sowed the seeds of the Second World War and all that has followed it. Now we are hooked up in a so-called world organization—the United Nations—supposedly to keep the peace. But look at the nations with whom we have entangled ourselves in the United Nations. They are those same imperialist countries of Europe and Asia whose activities have caused all the major wars. Instead of keeping the peace for the United States—which is all we can ever expect to do—we have guaranteed that wherever trouble breaks out in the world, we will be in it. Our only salvation lies in a return to our historic role: "Friendly relations with all; entangling alliances with none." And it seems to me the first step is to get out of the United Nations and get the United Nations out of the United States.

Mission Study Series Is Concluded On Sunday

Stressing the interest of the tourist in what Mark Twain described as "the lovelist fleet of islands ever anchored in any ocean," Darrell Malone continued the mission study on Hawaii at St. Paul's Methodist church in Oakland, last Sunday evening. Mr. Malone related much of the early history of the island, the near annihilation of the Polynesian race by disease which was brought under control by the teaching and influence of courageous missionaries, and their animistic beliefs converted to Christianity.

Development of the sugar and pineapple industries, the labor situation, annexation by the United States and the necessary part which Hawaii plays in our national defense system was all made a part of the study.

E. Ray Jones represented the Methodist Men in conducting devotions. A color film, "Hawaii, Crossroads of the Pacific," portrayed the influence of Christian schools and fellowship centers on youth of varied religious beliefs.

The fourth and last of the series concluding the study of Alaska and Hawaii will be presented next Sunday evening by Willard Hawkins followed by the showing of a filmstrip. Miss Roberta Cogley will lead the devotions and members of the Mizpah Sunday School class will be hostesses.

Beekeeping Good Paying Sideline

Beekeeping is a good paying sideline, according to George J. Adams, professor of apiculture, University of Maryland.

This fact is borne out by the 1950 census, which showed 1,600 beekeepers on farms in Maryland. However, most of the State's beekeepers are not farmers. Most of them live in villages and towns. And for this reason it is estimated that about 3,000 Marylanders keep bees.

Many people keep bees as a sideline to a regular job. Honey has a ready sale in Maryland, at a good price, and our fields and forests offer good free bee pasturage, Abrams pointed out.

Most beekeepers are in the 25-100 colony class, making the extra cash that helps the family with an auxiliary income. There are some full time commercial beekeepers, with two outfits in the State that operate about 1,000 colonies, each. And there are others in the 400-500 class.

One man can make a modest living from about 400 colonies. One who knows his business should have considerable time off during the winter; and weekly periods of respite even during the summer and fall. Spring is the busy time when long hours of hard work are required.

It takes about 10 years to make a beekeeper. Nobody starts off with several hundred hives. All the commercial bee men were once either hobby or sideline beekeepers. They learned bee behavior, colony management and how to control bees, on several hives, at first and built up their apiaries as ttheir experience warranted.

Anyone interested in getting started in beekeeping should see their County Agent or write to G. J. Abrams, professor of Apiculture, Entomology Department, University of Maryland College of Agriculture, College Park, Md.

Plan Now For Winter Feeding Of Dairy Cows

Now is the time to take an inventory of the winter feed supply. Maximum use of home grown feeds and forages in dairy feeding may unlock the door to greater profits. Adjustments can be made early in the winter feeding period for unusually large or unusually small crop yields, either in home grown grains, hay or silage, says J. R. Schabinger, University of Maryland Extension dairyman.

A general guide to be used in planning the forage requirements for a large dairy cow (1400 lbs.) is 4.0 tons of silage and one and one-half tons of hay for 200 days feeding. A small dairy cow requires approximately 3 tons of silage and one ton of hay. Approximately 2 tons of silage and one and one-quarter tons of hay are needed for dairy heifers. These estimates will vary with the size and age of the heifer, Schabinger said.

The advantage of taking inventory is to determine if the forage supply will adequately meet the needs of the herd. More hay may be fed when the supply is good and the amount of silage may be reduced, if necessary. When additional feed, especially forage, must be purchased, buy early. This will provide greater selection of hay, which is usually cheaper now, and storage space may be used more efficiently.

Grains may be purchased in quantity and stored when the supply on the farm is short. Corn, barley, oats, and wheat can be used in dairy rations. Use of these grains in forming rations should be determined, in part, by the amount raised on the farm.

A feeding program is most efficient and economical when it is designed to meet the needs of a particular farm, he said.

Is Your Name CAMPBELL?

Campbell, one of the most noted of Scottish surnames, is derived from the Gaelic nickname "caimbeul" which means "twisted mouth" and was supposedly an allusion to the personal appearance of an ancestor. The famous Campbell family of the Scottish Highlands was founded at the end of the 8th century by Cailean Mor (Colin the Great) who lived in Argyll, and the Campbell clan was the most numerous and powerful in the land, being able to muster under unified leadership at least 5,000 fighting men. (A Highland Clan is a set of men, all having the same surname and believing themselves to be descendants of a common ancestor).

Robert Campbell (1730-1799) served as adjutant of Maryland troops during the Revolutionary War. He was born in Campbelltown, Scotland and died in Cecil County, Maryland. Another patroit and high ranking officer was Brigadier General William Campbell (1745-1782) of the Virginia troops. Campbell County, Virginia was named for him.

The fifth deed recorded in Garrett County was for a lot from J. L. Campbell to J. F. Browning. It was recorded on February 21, 1873.

The Clan Campbell Association of America, with headquarters in San Francisco, has published two excellent well-illustrated booklets, entitled "The Highlander", which deal with the activities of the Campbell family.

Alexander Campbell (1786-1866) established the "Disciples of Christ" which became known widely as the "Campbellites" and the membership of which numbered about 640,000 adherents in 1890. He founded Bethany College in West Virginia in 1849 and was its president until his death.

James E. Campbell (1843-1924) was governor of Ohio.

Robert Granville Campbell (1879-1932) was professor of political science at Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Virginia.

George Murray Campbell is vice-president, Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, with offices in Chicago.

Joseph Campbell is comptroller general of the United States.

Southern To Meet Piedmont Saturday

Southern High school will open its 1958-59 basketball season this coming Saturday night when it faces Piedmont, the defending Potomac Valley conference and Mineral County league champs, on the local court.

The latter quint, coached by "Huck Miers" posted an overall record of twenty-three wins and only three set-backs during the 1957-58 season. The Lions lost only to Keyser, Valley and Hedgesville. Three veterans will be returning to last year's winning five including Joe Taylor, one of the area's top scoring whizzes of the past season averaging 20.4 points per game over the regular campaign with 407 tallies in twenty games.

Returning veterans for the Highlanders will be Leo Martin, Terry Colaw and Don Stemple. Jerry Wine, who scored 191 points for the Red and White team will be unable to play until January 5 due to an ankle injury incurred during practice. Colaw scored 274 tallies for an average of fourteen points per game while Stemple hit the hoops for 162 points or eight points per game. No starting line-up for the Southern team has been announced as yet by Carl Schoonover, basketball coach at Southern.

Piedmont defeated the local quintet last year by a score of 62-35 and in the second game 63-54.

"The Gospel Hour" Being Heard Again Over Radio

Southern's overall record was twelve wins and eight losses. In tournament play the Highlanders lost to Valley after defeating Clear Spring 65-55.

Next Tuesday the Highlanders will travel to Terra Alta.

THE AMERICAN WAY

FREE ENTERPRISE BEING DESTROYED

By GEORGE PECK

(Editor's Note: George Peck is President of the Laymen's National Committee, sponsor of National Sunday School and Bible Weeks.)

In my last column, I pointed out that on last November 4 voters in the State of Oregon had turned thumbs down on three proposals to put government into the production, sale or distribution of electricity.

This was in line with how the voting public has reacted in the majority of cases when given an opportunity to register its choice between public and private electric power. Unfortunately, the people only have an opportunity to vote on such matters at the local or state level. They are given no chance to vote on big Federal power projects. Congress approves or disapproves these, without referring them to the voters.

To repeat, this is indeed unfortunate, because it is this columnist's studied opinion that NO FEDERAL POWER DEVELOPMENT PROJECTS WOULD BE APPROVED if put to a vote of the people.

The "Butte (Montana) Standard," in its Nov. 18 issue, relates how on Oct. 10, the members of the Verde Electric Co-op, Inc., voted by a 231-80 margin to sell their system to the Arizona Public Service Company. It hails this as a vote of confidence in private enterprise, and states that that confidence is justified because the investor-owned Arizona Company agreed to eliminate all obligations of the Co-op, to refund all membership fees and deposits, and to reduce rates on an average of 25 per cent, while improving the service.

The "Standard" concluded the item with this apt comment:

"It certainly would be interesting if the people could vote on the big proposals for spending hundreds of millions of their tax dollars for tax-free socialized power—when tax-paying private enterprise is ready to do the job."

Another Montana daily, the "Kalispell Inter-Lake," carried an editorial in its Nov. 18 issue, entitled "Evading Taxes." This editorial I pass on to the readers of this column in its entirety. From here to the end of this column, it is the editor of the "Inter-Lake" speaking:

Last week, we had occasion to visit with state business and industrial leaders at a Great Falls meeting. Among the illustrous persons present was J. E. (Jack) Corette, president of Montana Power Company, and head of Edison Electric Institute. Mr. Corette was the speaker at a dinner and brought a message that was thoughtful and gives pause for honest reflection on the future of the United States.

Among other things, Mr. Corette had just recently completed a tour that took him more than 12,000 miles in studying conditions in various world areas.

What he found there disturbed him greatly. But what he finds in the United States gave him greater cause for concern, he said. Greatest problem facing us now, and future generations, is the threat of more government in business. In short, socialism.

This country, it is safe to say, has gone much farther along the socialistic road than most of its citizens realize. Corette's talk, and private conversation, pointed out that there are now more than 70 active government corporations whose assets mushroomed from $24 billion as recently as 1948 to $89.8 billion in 1957. (And, we recall a little squib in our Nothing Special corner recently which pointed out that government agencies and businesses cost the taxpayers about $10 billion annually.)

But, listen to Jack Corette. He said:

"Where the government-operated business is in direct competition with a privately-owned taxpaying business, it ultimately destroys the taxpayer. In spite of greater efficiency and economy of private business, it cannot survive against tax-free, interest-free competition which does not have to make a profit or worry about the source of new money."

He had a great many more things to say, and the charts and figures to back what he said. They were most disturbing to anyone who is hopeful that the United States will continue to perpetuate the free enterprise system as we know it—or knew it.

Martha DeBerry of 12-C and David Gonder of 11-B were the only two students who made all "A's" on the honor roll for the first term at Southern high school. There were sixty-nine students on the honor roll, who made all A's and B's.

47 Boys Report For Jr. High Basketball

Forty-seven boys reported for Junior High school basketball practice at Southern High school this year, one of the largest turnouts in recent years. The team will open its seaason Saturday with a preliminary game with Piedmont Junior High team.

The Junior high team, under the tutelage of Wayne Johnson, faces a twelve-game schedule. Johnson, in his first year of coaching, faces the prospect of building almost a complete new team. Lost from last year's team which won fifteen and lost three, were Dick Stuck, Ron Colaw, Wally Bolyard, Ken Jones, Brenton Propst, Fred Bell and Harold Sharpless.

John Prince, a six-foot ninth grader and only returning letterman, will be counted on to lead the Junior high attack in its opening game Saturday. Other ninth graders hoping to find a berth on the team are Frankie Vetter, Porter Welch, Ronald Wotring, Doug Ellis, Bill Stockslager, John Friend, Jimmy Craig, John Beckman, Doug Stonebraker, Terry Bell, John Umstot, Lindsay Gonder, Dickie Dixon and John Wildesen.

Ten eighth graders have reported while twenty-two seventh graders are practicing. Eighth graders include Michael Kahl, Harold Schmidt, Welton Lane, Denny Shaffer, Gary Orr, Joe Germain, Lloyd Bittinger, Edward Bateman, Marvin Guthrie and Eddie Landon.

Seventh graders are O. Schmidt, Gary Trickett, Bill Carlson, J. McClung, R. Perrine, Chuck Feather, Andy Damon, Gayle Sorge, Bob Stuck, Harold Mosser, D. Hinebaugh, Bill Martin, J. Savage, Eddie Frantz, Jimmy Gibson, R. Martin, Jerry Friend, M. Friend, Von Johnson, Neil Henline, Allen Perando and Tommy Miller.

Coach Johnson said he was pleased at the large turnout. "While many will see little action this year, particularly seventh graders, we are going to try to hold as many practice sessions as possible for the younger boys," he said. "This is the only way we can maintain interest, enthusiasm and teach the fundamentals to our future players."

The schedule:

Dec. 6, Piedmont, home
Dec. 9, Terra Alta, away
Dec. 13, Keyser, away
January 9, Parsons, home
January 16, Thomas, place to be announced
January 20, Elk Garden, away
January 23, Terra Alta, home
January 30, Parsons, away
February 5, Elk Garden, home
February 10, Thomas, place to be announced
February 13, Piedmont, away.

In most cases the junior high will play the preliminary game unless otherwise indicated.

The Potomac Valley conference junior high tournament will be held at Keyser, February 14, 21 and 24. Last year the Southern Junior high team advanced to the finals.

Teen Corner

By DICK CASTILOW

Despite the bad weather Friday night there were quite a few members attending the Teen Club. The Royales played the top tunes for the dancing pleasure of all in attendance. We were honored with the presence of many college students as well as those attending prep schools. If any one would have fallen or had an accident, things would have been well taken care of, for there was a whole table of nurses and student nurses. These people may be a year or two past their teen years, yet they did enjoy themselves. Ladies, come back again.

The top talent of the area will be under one roof the night of the Winter Wonderland dance held in the gym. The members of the journalism classes of Southern are seeing to this. All graduates of Southern are cordially invited to attend this semi-formal dance. Music will be furnished by The Royales. This function will take place on the twentieth.

If there is anything newsworthy at either high school in the county let me know and a plug is yours.

Why don't more adults go for rock 'n' roll? Is it that r & r is a rather new thing and needs trying out? This is not probable but slightly possible. The big double R's have been around for a few years and I don't think that it is altogether newness. Well what is the reason? I would like to have a bit of mail on this and air the adult view. It may be worthy of attention.

There is a rumor floating that the Monorays will be in this area around the Yule season, I don't know for sure. The Monorays appeared at the county fair last summer.

I told you that Cozy's "Turvey" would sell, it's selling all right.

EXCEL IN MAGAZINE SALES—Tom Forman, left, was high salesman in the magazine sales campaign recently concluded by students of Southern high school. He is a sophomore student and sold magazines totaling $101.07. Susan Gibson (center), also a sophomore, was second in sales with $75.68; while third was Bill Bittinger, freshman, (right), who had sales of $70.69.

Measles deaths during 1957 outnumbered deaths from polio, first time since 1944.

Bittinger Girls 4-H Club Holds Achievement Night

The Bittinger Girls 4-H club held an Achievement night November 28 at the Bittinger school.

Florence Emory, president, welcomed the visitors and explained reasons for the meeting. Girls who attended 4-H camp conducted devotions.

The president outlined accomplishments for the year which included observance of national 4-H club week; observance of national 4-H Sunday, participation in demonstration day when Mary Ellen Beachy told about demonstrations given and Kathryn Yaste, county winner, told about the district demonstration day; participation in the county style revue with Carolyn Brenneman telling about the placings; participation in the fair with Helen Emory giving details; participation at club week with Judy Buckel telling of her experience as a page; participation in the 4-H round-up and achievement night; preparation of a program book with club activities and achievements listed.

Refreshments prepared by the girls were served. Guests were invited to inspect record books and medals that were on display.

FIRST SNOW

The first snow of the season! What excitement—what delight is written in her shining eyes! To her, the world has suddenly become a wonderland of white enchantment—a miracle.

A child accepts the miracle, and finds in it pure, unblemished joy. An adult finds it increasingly difficult to accept anything as miraculous—and his joys are dimmed by life's myriad complexities.

Yet, within every adult's grasp is the greatest miracle of all—the story of Christ and the message he left the world. This is the inheritance of every man and woman who will reach out to accept it. It waits for you . . . in the Church.

Go to church this Sunday. Discover, again, what Christ did for you.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Dinner Is Held

Mrs. Benny F. Epstein and Mrs. Archie L. Wenrick, the latter of Disputanti, Va., held a turkey dinner at Happy Hills restaurant last Saturday evening in honor of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Folk, of Grantsville, who were observing their golden wedding anniversary. The table was adorned with a three-tiered wedding cake, decorated with gold and topped with a miniature bride and groom, and with candelabra with lighted yellow tapers, yellow chrysanthemums and carnations. Place cards and napkins were painted in gold. The cake was cut by Miss Viola Broadwater, Grantsville. Mr. Folk was a son of the late Jacob and Anna Siehl Folk. Mrs. Fannie Folk was a daughter of the late Simon and Arminta Livengood. Both were born near Springs.

Power for Life

Lesson for December 7, 1958

THE CHRISTIAN religion is not and never was simply a set of ideas. Being a Christian is not being an ordinary person who believes some extra things that other people don't.

The Christian religion is not simply a way of living, or a new set of rules for behavior, mostly Dont's. The Christian is not a person with peculiar habits and nothing else to recommend him.

Dr. Foreman

The Christian religion does include ideas, radical and profound. It does involve a way, a pattern for living, but one which comes from the spirit and intent of love, divine love, rather than from a set of rules carefully memorized.

Besides these, the Christian religion is power—not power "over" but power "for". The Christian religion is supernatural, and this most strikingly in the power Christ gives to enable men to live above their ordinary selves.

Giving A Man Back

The story of Jesus and the man calling himself "Legion"—a military word which might be translated "Regiment"—has some very sepectacular features. Aside from these, which have seldom if ever been repeated, the story is typical of what the power of Christ can do for a man.

First of all, Jesus gave the man back to himself. He had not belonged to himself while he was "Legion." He belonged to any one of the countless devils that plagued him. He did not even know his own right name. He could not "call his soul his own." But after Jesus was done with him, he was a man in his right mind, under control, a single person with a single mind. Second, Jesus gave the man back to society. (That particular society, alas, did not want him; they would rather have kept their pigs. But that is another story.) He was now able to live with other people and to take his share of the world's work on his shoulders. If his home town would not have him, there were others that would. And in the third place, Jesus gave the man back to God. His instructions were to go and tell what the Lord had done for him.

A Modern Demon

We do not have demoniacs sitting in cemeteries nowadays, not in the ancient style. But as any minister, lawyer or social worker can tell you, there is a modern demon that gets control of millions of our fellow-citizens and takes away their citizenship, reducing them to helpless slavery. This is the demon of alcoholism. Our forefathers had an uglier word for it: the drink habit. It is the fourth most fatal disease in America; and alone among diseases (if we agree it is a disease) it is entirely preventable, it is one of the few diseases known to man which a man can definitely make up his mind not to have. (But of course he can do this only by being a non-drinker. No drinker can resolve not to become an alcoholic: the very next cocktail party may tip him over the edge.) But any one who knows alcoholics, actual or potential, knows how such people are "not themselves" as the kindly phrase puts it. They are no more masters of themselves than that poor maniac in Galilee driven mad by his own demons.

Modern Miracles

Yet the alcoholic is not beyond rescue. Every week some one of these pitiable people is pulled out of the quicksand and his feet set on a rock, by the power of Christ. Men and women find a super natural power that is great enough to accomplish what good resolutions and many preachments and pleadings have not accomplished. Such a man is given back to himself, back to society and back to God. Cured alcoholics are most likely to stay cured when they devote themselves to helping others as they themselves have been helped. The most effective helper of others is likely to be the one who can say himself, "I know what the Lord has done for me." And this is true not only of alcoholics, but of those who are devil-ridden by other destroyers, pride, envy, lust and all the rest. No evil, no combination of evils, that attack and destroy man, can be a match for the Son of God . . . if only the victim is willing to be rescued!

Children's Bible Story

THE PASSOVER LAMB
(Story based on Exodus 12.)

HELLO BOYS AND GIRLS!

From time to time we hear urgent appeals over the radio for blood. Do you know why these appeals are so urgent? That is right, so that thousands of lives may be saved. In today's story you will learn how a little blood of a lamb saved the lives of thousands of boys, many many years ago.

Let us imagine ourselves living back in Egypt when the tenth plague was about to fall upon the people of that land, because wicked Pharaoh stubbornly refused to let Israel go, even though his people had already suffered from the effects of nine terrible plagues. As before, God first warned Pharaoh what He was about to do. This was Pharaoh's last chance to obey. "Thus saith the Lord, about midnight ... all the firstborn in the land of Egypt shall die ... But against any of the children of Israel shall not a dog move his tongue, ... that ye may know how that the Lord doth put a difference between the Egyptians and Israel."

In the meantime, God instructed the children of Israel what they were to do, and so we find them busily engaged in making preparations for that last night in the land of Egypt. Each family was to kill a lamb that was absolutely perfect in every respect. Then they were to take a bunch of hyssop (a tiny plant) dip it into the blood, and then sprinkle the blood upon their doorposts. "When I see the blood," the Lord had promised, "I will pass over you, and the plague shall not be upon you to destroy you, when I smite the land of Egypt." There was a very important lesson the Lord wanted to teach them in all this. Do you know what it was? Well, the blood of the lamb pointed to and represented Jesus, called "the Lamb of God," in the Bible, Who died in order that we might be saved in His everlasting kingdom.

Let us now go from home to home to see what preparations the children of Israel are making. We see them carrying out the orders given them by God, until every family has the blood of the lamb sprinkled upon their doorposts. In haste they eat the paschal lamb, as they wait for the midnight hour to strike. Can't you just see how excited they all are? See them clasping their firstborn, and holding them, oh, so tight, as if they were afraid something might happen to them. And so they watch and they pray.

Then the dreaded moment comes. Weeping and wailing is heard in every Egyptian home, for "there was not a house where there was not one dead." But we find the children of the Israelites all safe and alive, for when the destroying angel passed over their homes, he found the blood sprinkled on their doorposts, and so no harm could come to them. God, you see, does make a difference between the obedient and the disobedient, between the righteous and the wicked.

Pharaoh was now terror-stricken and afraid that he too would be slain, and so he called for Moses and Aaron and pleaded with them to take the children of Israel out of Egypt and to do it in a hurry. To this day, the children of Israel celebrate Passover as a reminder of that great deliverance which God so mightily wrought for them because they applied the blood of the lamb to their homes as God had directed.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON

President of Harding College

One of the four greatest dangers to the life and liberty of every American citizen, in the opinion of Senator John L. McClellan, is the continuing advance of world Communism and the failure of the United States government to adequately deal with this monstrous force. Senator McClellan is one of the hardest working men in Congress and one of the most respected, in and out of Congress. He frankly says that both the Truman and the Eisenhower foreign policies have failed to cope with the constantly growing Communist menace.

Senator McClellan says that if present trends in our nation continue—together with the apathy of our citizenry—America will go down the road to terrible tragedy. "The facts show," he says, "that Communism is winning the battle for the world." How many American citizens—how many readers of this column—realize that this is true, that the world is being gobbled up by a frightful fraternity of brutality which denies God and uses mass murder and human slavery to strengthen its dictatorship?

Shortly after Senator McClellan spoke out in warning to the American people, the United States News and World Report published an article entitled "Today's War—How the Reds are Operating in 72 Countries." The first paragraph says: "Today's war, as the Communists wage it, still is World War III, Communist style. And, in much of the world, the Communist forces are out ahead, making progress, winning battles."

Yet our foreign policy for the 13 years since the end of World War II has been spoken out of both sides of the mouth, has been working both sides of the street. Our governmental leaders have been wining and dining and toasting with Stalin and Khrushchev, constantly seeking truces, cease-fires, "understandings," and agreements with them, while telling the American people the Reds are international crooks bent on our destruction and that $40 billion a year in tax money is needed to arm against them.

The U. S. News and World Report article reports briefly on Communist activities in each of the 72 countries—how they are gaining outright political power, controlling labor unions, infiltrating schools and colleges and particularly the thought-shaping agencies such as newspapers, radio, television. In America, their cunning and effective propaganda apparatus has been concentrating in recent days on trying again to undermine Nationalist China and persuade the American people we should not concern ourselves with helping hold Quemoy and Matsu.

The article shows the advances made by the Reds in Europe, South Asia, Africa, Latin America, the Far East and the Middle East. When you have run down the list of these 72 countries and absorbed the shocking facts of Communist advances everywhere, you can understand Senator McClellan's grave concern for the survival of our nation. What can a citizen do? We can urge upon our representatives in government from the president down, the outlawing of Communists in our country, the recall of our recognition of Communist Russia, the gearing of our government to a state of war, and the establishment of foreign policy founded upon morality and activated with the same moral courage that brought our great nation into being.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a decree for a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII by the plaintiff from the defendant.

The Bill states:

That on the 30th day of May, 1955, she was married to the said Willis Leroy Herman, with whom she resided until October 19, 1956; that although the conduct of your oratrix toward her husband, the said Willis Leroy Herman, has always been kind, affectionate and above reproach, the said Willis Leroy Herman, has, without just cause or reason abandoned and deserted her, and has declared his intention to live with her no longer, and that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for more than eighteen months, is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that your oratrix and the said defendant, Willis Leroy Herman, have had one child born of said marriage, to-wit, Kimberly B. The bill then prays for a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII of the plaintiff from the defendant, for general relief and for an order of publication.

It is thereupon this 18th day of November, 1958, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, that the plaintiff by having a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 12th day of December, 1958, giving notice to the said absent defendant of the object and substance of this bill, warning him to be and appear in this Court, either in person or by solicitor, on or before the 27th day of December, 1958, to show cause, if any he has, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

THE COUNTRY-PULPIT

WEEKLY SERMON by Pastor P. F. Nieuwkoop

Him Honoring

A married couple of my acquaintance has a unique way of celebrating one another's birthday. During the week in which the wife's birthday falls, she has the pleasure of doing what she would like to do that week and the husband honors her requests. It's 'her week' and he seeks to especially please her all the week long. Then when his birthday arrives the wife especially seeks to please her husband all that week. What a wonderful celebration this is. As I thought about this arrangement, how a lot of matters would be settled regarding our proper conduct as Christians on the Lord's Day if we would practice such a honoring of love. Since the Christians are not under the Mosaic law and no specific rules are given for proper conduct on the Lord's Day for the Church, controversy has resulted. However the behaviour of love under grace goes farther than the mere letter of the law. It is not enough just to fulfill a code of "do this" and "don't do that" The law of love tells us that we ought to sanctify this day because we want to honor and please Him. I John 3:22 shows us His blessing upon those who "keep His commandments and do those things that are pleasing in His sight."

Open Forum .....

There must be many more ideas in people's minds than were brought up at the public meeting Monday before the legislators. We know there must have been many who would have had suggestions but who were not able to attend because of lack of travel facilities or lack of adequate time at the moment.

We know some misunderstanding occurred as a result of the meeting which could be directly credited to the Cumberland newspapers because of some very thoughtless and incorrect statements. Only one individual mentioned legalized sale of whiskey at Monday's meeting. The Legislators made no statement favoring or disfavoring, but in next day's daily newspaper it declared that the "legislators were reportedly in favor of legalized sale of whiskey." This caused no end of telephone calls and some consternation on the part of the legislators who openly state that actually they considered the liquor issue a dead duck since the people voted on the question just two years ago.

Of course, our columns have always been open for letters to the editor, but we would like to make a special offer at this time for persons to use the newspaper to express their views on topics pertinent to the county and its welfare.

There is the question of the soldier bonus, strip mining, women serving on juries, requiring blood tests for persons desiring to marry, and a number of others. Perhaps you have good ideas on some subject. Many times the legislators will be catching just the extremes on a question as only those radically opposed or those fervently in favor will be sure to make themselves heard. We know the legislators would rather have a concensus of all the people than just a few.

We know there is going to be an attempt to create a big stir on the soldier bonus. People may try to force the issue and put the legislators under pressure. We feel there are two sides to that question. We personally feel any legislation on a soldier bonus would be inflationary, require the raising of one hundred millions of dollars, and for what? We are of the

Shirer Bid Lowest for All-Purpose Room

Bids were opened for the new Center Street School all-purpose room at a meeting of the Board of Education on Tuesday, revealing that William A. Shirer of Oakland, had submitted a low bid of $49,390.

There were seven bids, Liston Construction company, Morgantown, being high with $66,948. Other bids were as follows: George Construction company, Cumberland, $63,958; Hamilton Contracting company, Westernport, $60,900; Lunch Brothers, Morgantown, $59,115; Kitzmiller and Edgar, Oakland, $54,721; Lawrence E. Hardesty, Oakland, $51,080.

The Board announced that contract for the construction was expected to be awarded on or before January 1. Completion date called for in the specifications is September 1, 1959.

Most of the meeting was spent in a study of the county school budget that was to be presented to the County Commissioners. Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent, pointed out that the amount requested above the minimum requirements by law was a few thousand dollars in excess of last year's budget. The request included $16,000 to supplement funds on hand for a two room addition at the Loch Lynn school; $3,500 for a new furnace and heating plant for the Yoder school; and $3,500 for the purchase of additional land for the Bloomington school.

Mr. Hawkins pointed out that any increase in the assessable base of the county was accompanied by a mandatory increase for the minimum school program and a corresponding decrease in the amount of state aid.

Mr. Hawkins said there was also need in several classrooms for new or additional furniture but he indicated that all basic furniture needs would be taken care of by the end of another budget year. He added that adequate allotments had been

Community Program Held

Five hundred or more people were at Northern High school last Sunday evening for a community Christmas program arranged by the churches of Grantsville, Accident and Friendsville.

A pantomime entitled "The Promised Messiah," was presented. Music was provided by a combined choir of members of all churches, the Junior and Senior choruses of the high school, under direction of Mrs. Lucille Sines. Rev. Clarence M. Moyers, pastor of the Maple Grove Church of the Brethren, at Grantsville, was general chairman.

Fined In Appeal Case On Tuesday

In an appeal case heard before Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley in the Circuit Court on Tuesday morning, Richard Earl Bittinger was fined $100 and costs and given a six months suspended sentence in the House of Correction. The sentence will not have to be served if the $100 fine is paid by January 15.

Bittinger had been sentenced to serve six months in the House of Correction in August by Trial Magistrate Boyd Sanders, Sr., on a charge of driving under the influence of liquor. Bittinger appealed the sentence.

Man Is Sentenced

In another case heard before Judge Fraley Tuesday afternoon, Frederick Hoffman Snyder, about 21 years of age, was found guilty of theft of a tire, tube and fifteen gallons of gasoline from Ray E. Cogley, Red Run road, and was sentenced to serve eighteen months in the House Correction. The theft occurred in February of last year.

Mr. Snyder was given a two year term in the House of Correction at the March Term of court but sentence was suspended and he was placed under the supervision of the parole officer for two years.

678 Bucks Slain In Six-Day Season

Number Is Twenty Below All-Time Record Established In 1957

Garrett County proved it was still top deer county in Maryland, bu it fell twenty bucks short of the all-time record established last year.

A total of 678 bucks were slain during the six-day season which closed last Saturday at sundown. The totals for the season were 202 Monday, 171 Tuesday, 121 Wednesday, 45 Thursday, 56 Friday and 83 Saturday.

Had the weather remained more favorable and had the hunters remained in the county the kill would have gone over the record, it was felt by game wardens. Warden Leo Friend said there were several bucks spotted Saturday and Sunday.

Saturday was bitter cold and yet the total kill on that day was 27 more than the previous day.

Cumberland sports writers grudgingly admitted that Garrett county still produced the highest number of deer kills in the state. They had dwelt at length on the probable scarcity of bucks here due to the hard winter of last year and indicated that hunters would do better to spend their time in Allegany county. Hunters probably will take such information with a grain of salt if it is repeated next year.

The bulk of the Garrett county kills came the first three days when 494 were listed at the receiving stations. It was reported last week that the total for the first three days was 503, but a game official stated this week that Grantsville had made a mistake of nine in its first day's report.

The report for the various stations was as follows: Mt. Nebo Station near Oakland, 192; Friendsville, 87; Grantsville, 145; Storey's at Deep Creek Lake, 136; LaVale, 48; Westernport, 66; and Hancock, 4. The last three are beyond the county but those that are checked in these stations that are killed in Garrett county are credited to this area. There were also nine bucks killed in the county during the bow and arrow season in November.

Larry Vane Iden, aged 11, son of Vane Iden, of Loch Lynn, was probably the youngest hunter. He got a 9-pt, 142 pound buck.

Women continued to take their share of the bucks. In addition to the five listed last week, there were five more this week: Wanda Hinebaugh, Deer Park a four-point 119 pound buck; Anna E. Mummert, Oakland, 7-pt, 123 lb; Ruth Weimer, Mt. Lake Park, 7-pt, 153 lb.; Nellie DeWitt, Sang Run, 10-pt, 164 lb; and Hazel E. Black, Baltimore, 10-pt, 128 lb.

No bucks were listed this week with any more horns or any heavier than the two listed last week.

A tabulation of additional deer kills is found on page fourteen.

Veteran Legislation To Be Discussed

A public meeting to discuss veteran legislation and other county-wide questions has been arranged to be held in Grantsville next Tuesday evening, December 16, at 8 o'clock p. m., at the American Legion home of Grantsville Post No. 214 by the legislators.

All veterans and legionaires of the county are being asked to attend. Members of the House of Delegates and the State Senator are expected to be there in addition to the three County Commissioners.

Garrett Building Supply Under New Management

The Garrett Building Supply in Mt. Lake Park went under new management recently, but it was rather a return to old management.

Originally started in 1946 under the management of Ray Bittinger and Veryl Weimer, it expanded and took Delbert Bittinger into the business. And now it is back under the management of Ray Bittinger and Mr. Weimer. Delbert Bittinger was considering other offers with a local concern.

Carl Schell Heads Commissioner Trio

The three newly elected County Commissioners were duly sworn Monday morning by Richard L. Davis, clerk of the Circuit Court, and took over their duties in an official capacity.

Following the swearing in about 10 o'clock the Commissioners received congratulations from the clerk, the retiring commissioners and from a number of their friends who were present for the occasion.

The first order of business was the selection of a president and Carl A. Schell, of Kitzmiller was elected. Fred Glotfelty, Oakland, was named vice-president, with Elra Garletts as the third member.

The Commissioners then named Stuart F. Hamill attorney to the board, and Mrs. Virginia Fizer as clerk. Mrs. Fizer had been serving as clerk under the previous board of County Commissioners.

One of the most pressing duties facing the Commissioners is the laying of the levy which must be completed and ready for publication by January 15. The members will be conferring with heads of departments, the Board of Education, the Welfare board and other agencies in regard to their proposed budgets and will lay the levy accordingly.

The Commissioners indicated they planned no hasty move insofar as naming a new county roads engineer was concerned. The old board of County Commissioners had named Paul DeWitt as acting roads engineer, just prior to the resignation of the late W. W. DeWitt, and it was understood the new board did not plan to change this in the near future.

There are several applicants, it is understood, for the position, but only one application is actually on file with the clerk. That is the application of Ervin A. Roth, one of the retiring board of County Commissioners.

Oakland Firemen Kept Busy This Week

Oakland firemen were kept busy this week, having been called four times to various sections of the community.

There was extensive damage to the house of Mavey Mellot at Swallow Falls on Sunday morning about 6:45 o'clock. Neighbors assisted him in saving much of his household furnishings, and the arrival of the Oakland firemen prevented any further spread to the store room in the front of the one-room house. The department had to travel some fourteen miles in near zero weather. The fire was thought to have been caused by a defective flue. The living quarters were totally ruined.

There was slight damage to the Will Weber home across from the high school on Monday evening about 6:30 o'clock. The home is occupied by Clarence Crosco and family. Cause of the fire was unknown. This is the second fire to have occurred there in recent weeks.

A chicken house of Sam Myers, Sr., near Underwood was entirely destroyed and 500 little chickens burned in a fire there Tuesday afternoon about 5 o'clock. The fire was thought to have been caused by defective electric wiring in the brooder heater.

The fourth alarm came as the result of a defective flue at the home of James Rice, just off 8th street, in Oakland, on Wednesday morning about 8 o'clock. There was no damage.

Swanton P.-T. A. To Meet

The Swanton P.-T.A. will be held Tuesday evening, December 16, at 7:30 p. m. Following the meeting there will be a gift exchange.

On Thursday, December 18, at 7:30 the school will hold its Christmas program. Both meetings will be held in the Swanton school.

THE NEW TAKE OVER—The old gave way to the new on Monday morning when the recently elected County Commissioners began their duties. Sitting behind their desk where they will officiate for the next four years are, left to right, Fred B. Glotfelty, Republican, vice-president; Carl A. Schell, Democrat, president; and Elra Garletts, Democrat, associate member. The three were officially sworn in on Monday morning by Richard L. Davis, clerk of the Circuit Court, after which they were presented with their commissions. The new board went right to work on the 1959 levy, the first big job of these county officials.

Jack Purbaugh Is New K. of P. Head

Reaford Jack Purbaugh was elected chancellor commander of Garrett Lodge No. 113, Knights of Pythias, at a regular meeting last Friday evening. He will succeed P. E. DeWitt, who was named master of work. Installation will occur early in January.

Others officers elected were F. L. Durst, vice-chancellor; W. K. Hayden, prelate; H. C. Coddington, secretary; M. W. Mann, financial secretary; A. G. Gortner, treasurer; H. M. Riley, master-at-arms; C. W. Thrasher, inside guard; R. H. Swiger, outside guard; H. L. Stemple, trustee for a three-year term. Hold-over members of the board of trustees are Elza Bray and Reaford Purbaugh.

The lodge is planning a buckwheat cake and sausage supper this Friday evening for members and guests. This is a district get-together and the official visitation of grand lodge officers will be made at the regular lodge session which will convene at 7:30. There will be representations from other nearby lodges.

Fire Hazards Check Ordered In Schools

Following the grim reminder of the recent Chicago school fire disaster, the County school board has ordered an immediate check of all possible fire hazards in the schools. While the checking of all school's for fire hazards is routine procedure, the board members felt that an extra look into the matter as an added safety precaution would be in order. Supt. Willard L. Hawkins reported that Robert Martin, Administrative Assistant, has as one of his assignments, periodic inspection of all school plants relative to the matter of safety hazards, dealing with fire hazards in particular.

All fire extinguishers are regularly checked and refilled as needed, Mr. Hawkins said. He added that principals are also urged to work closely with school custodians to see that fire hazards are reduced to a minimum. The State Fire Insurance Underwriters inspected all school buildings last year and returned a favorable report on the safety conditions of the school plants as a whole, Mr. Hawkins indicated. The new buildings are of fireproof construction, with the exception of the classroom woodwork, books, etc.

Principals were also urged by the board to review fire drill regulations, to see that every precaution was exercised in aquainting all pupils, teachers, and custodians with adequate fire alarm signals and drills.

Camp In Need Of Sleds

The forestry camp at New Germany sent out word this week that it was in need of sleds for use of the boys who are living there. Some sixty young men are being detained there at the present time and the advisory board announced that time "hangs heavily on their hands" when it is not possible to work outside. These boys are those who have been sent to various institutions but by their favorable attitude and behavior have been granted certain privileges.

Mrs. Earl Zepp, a member of the advisory board, said that any sleds would be gratefully received, either those in good repair or broken ones. They are set up to make repairs to sleds of all kinds. B. D. Axman is director of the camp. Persons having sleds to contribute may call DEerfield 4-4665.

Masons Elect

At a regular meeting of the Masonic lodge in Oakland on Tuesday evening Foster D. Bittle was elected worshipful master, and will succeed Harold C. Ashby, who has served during the past year.

The four other principal officers elected were George M. Browning as senior warden; Thomas D. Browning, as junior warden; Robert T. Hoffman, secretary; Dr. W. W. Grant, treasurer.

Other officers are appointive and will be named prior to the installation which will occur early in January.

Request $57,755.25 From Commissioners For County Welfare

The Garrett County Welfare Board has estimated that the entire program in the county for 1959 will cost $390,459.98 and has asked the county to furnish $57,755.25 of this amount. The request for funds was presented to the County Commissioners following a dinner meeting with the members and other county officials at the William-James hotel Tuesday evening.

The Board sought $55,414.54 last year from the county as its share of a budget totaling $355,891.20.

The 1959 estimate has been approved by the Garrett County Welfare board, pointing out that the increases were felt to be necessary in order to increase the amount of assistance grants for food. Providing the legislature appropriates sufficient money to increase the public assistance grants the county welfare board would make the first increases in July, 1959, according to Robert W. Stemple, executive director.

Mr. Stemple said the county welfare board would have about $4,000 of county funds to return to the Commissioners at the end of 1958 that would more than make up the difference of the increase requested.

It was estimated that the following amounts would be necessary for the various categories of welfare; old age assistance, $122,891.16; aid to dependent children, $129,009.12; assistance to blind, $4,164.60; aid to permanently and totally dis-

File Campaign Expenses

Three more candidates filed their campaign expenses with the Clerk of the Circuit court during the week.

J. Edward Helbig spent $115; Kermit Glotfelty spent $278, and Ronald W. Guard spent $206.50. All three were unsuccessful candidates.

It was incorrectly stated last week that Mr. Schell spent $520.60 in his bid for County Commissioner. This was caused by a transposition of figures. The correct amount expended was $250.60.

Three Fined For Violation Of State Game Laws

Three persons were charged with violations of the state game laws during the past week and were listed on the docket of Boyd Sanders, Sr., trial magistrate.

Walter H. Conrad, Baltimore, was fined $10 and costs for having a loaded rifle in his automobile. Lawrence Uphold, Gorman, was fined $20 and costs for hunting without a license. Norman Parks, Keyser, was fined $20 and costs for having an improper license. Arrests were made by Wardens Robert Brown and Francis Ruge.

Condemnation Cases Docketed Yesterday

Three condemnation cases were docketed in the Circuit Court yesterday, in connection with land taken by the State Roads commission for improvement of the Mt. Lake-Oakland road and U. S. 219, south of Oakland.

The state has deposited checks for $625 with the clerk of the Circuit Court in regard to the taking of 1075 square feet of land of William Maxwell Davis for roadway and 1,160 square feet for easements.

It has deposited $390 with the clerk for the taking of 4.07 acres of land of Mary Bond Weber and Ralph Weber, along U. S. 219, south of town.

It has deposited $650 with the clerk for the taking of 1,555 square feet of land from James Horner Davis and others, in the Mt. Lake Park area.

The amounts deposited were termed unsatisfactory by the owners. Cases will be heard by juries in the Circuit Court in the near future.

Meeting Is Set For Beef Cattle Program

Several beef cattle producers in Garrett County have indicated an interest in the Maryland Beef Cattle Improvement program according to James McHenry, county agent. This program is based upon the securing and using of accurate, adequate records concerning the performance of beef cattle. The program is under the direction of the Extension Service.

A meeting has been planned for Tuesday, December 16 at 7:30 p. m. in the County Agents' office at which time this program will be explained. Mr. McHenry, said that Boyd Whitle, Extension Animal Husbandry Specialist from the University of Maryland, would be on hand to explain in detail the procedure and methods of setting up such a program. Any farmer owning beef cattle who is interested in receiving information regarding this program is invited to attend.

Held Under $2,000 Bond For Breaking And Entering

Robert Lee Lewis and Amos Dwight Friend, both of the Crellin vicinity, were arrested this week by Trooper Robert Henline of the State Police, and were charged with breaking and entering the store of the Stanley Supply company in Crellin and stealing a quantity of merchandise from the premises.

When given a preliminary hearing yesterday morning in the office of Trial Magistrate Boyd Sanders, Sr., they refused to admit any guilt and were placed under $2,000 bond each for action of the March Term Grand Jury.

Trooper Henline said that a number of guns, cigarets, and other merchandise had been stolen, the entire loot valued at probably $500.

Deer Park Firemen Plan Unusual Shooting Match

Deer Park firemen will hold an unusual shooting match, using muzzle loading rifles from the collection of E. R. O'Donnell, of Mt. Lake Park.

The match will get under way on Saturday, December 20, at 1 p. m., at the Deer Park fire hall. Everything will be furnished and Mr. O'Donnell will be on hand to load the rifles. Dressed turkeys will be given as prizes.

Legislators Get Views Of Public On Local Needs

Industry for the County, Soldier Bonus, Women On Juries, Others Suggested

Suggestions for a veterans' bonus, legislation to provide for women to serve on juries, for a blood test for marriage, for legalized liquor, for regulation of strip mining, and for some action which would bring industry to the county were among those made at a meeting in the Court House in Oakland on Monday afternoon.

The meeting was called by the newly elected legislators to hear recommendations for proposed new or corrective legislation. Senator-elect Bernard I. Gonder, Sr., and Delegates Leslie E. Savage, Elza Bray and Elbert Buckel, were in attendance as well as County Commissioners Carl Schell, Elra Garletts and Fred B. Glotfelty, along with some thirty-five interested citizens. Senator Gonder presided.

Some inaccurate reporting on the part of Cumberland newspapers caused somewhat of a flurry here on Tuesday, but this was corrected later by Mr. Gonder. Mrs. Thornton Deffinbaugh had suggested that since other counties had legalized whisky she felt that Garrett county should "come to it."

The newspaper account the following day declared that "the legislators reportedly were in favor of seeking the legalized sale of whisky in Garrett County which always has been "dry" except for the sale of beer."

Each legislator was contacted and each one stated that he had neither been asked for an opinion, nor had he issued any statement favoring such legislation. Yesterday morning Mr. Gonder made it clear there had been no commitment whatever. He explained that the county had voted against the sale of liquor two years ago and that the present delegation didn't even consider it an issue. He said the meeting was held primarily to get the public to state views on various subjects for the consideration of the delegation. He said no action was taken on any of the matters under discussion.

A complete digest of the proceedings Monday follows:

Veterans' Bonus

R. W. Guard, Friendsville, pointed out that Maryland was one of the last two states that had not granted a bonus to veterans. He requested action on this.

Oakland Is All Set For Holiday Season

Oakland was all set this week for the Christmas holiday season. Decorations were in place and lighted every evening. Beginning Monday evening most stores plan to remain open during the evening hours for the benefit of Christmas shoppers.

Plans progressed for the annual Christmas treat which will take place on Saturday afternoon, December 20, at 1 o'clock. Charles L. Briner, chairman of the treat committee, announced that contributions totaling $345 had been received but that $750 would be needed to complete the treat plans. He urged all those who had not yet contributed to do so as soon as possible.

The treat is made possible each year through voluntary contributions. Letters were recently mailed to individuals and business places seeking help. Last year 2,500 treats were given out. The project is under the sponsorship of the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce.

Scholarship Exams For Future Teachers Set For February

The teacher education scholarship examinations are to be held in the high schools of the county Saturday, February 7. The purpose of these scholarships is to attract additional young people to the teaching profession for service in the public schools of the state. All high school seniors who expect to graduate in 1959 and high school graduates of previous years, including those already in college, are eligible to take the examinations. One hundred fifty-two four-year scholarship awards will be available each year. These will be allocated according to the number of members in the General Assembly for each county. A number of additional scholarship awards of four years will be available to fill the quota in those counties where the original scholarship awards of the previous years have been released or forfeited. Awards will be made by the State Department of Education and will be based upon the results of the competitive examination which will be administered under the direction of the State Department. In case the county quotas are unfilled, awards will be made from a state-wide rank order based on test scores.

Each scholarship has a value of $2,000 for four years of undergraduate work, with a maximum allotment of $500 per year.

Each scholarship recipient is required to:

1. As of date of the examination be a legal resident of the county or the Baltimore City legislative district from which he or she makes application for the scholarship.
2. Enroll during the next ensuing scholastic year as a full-time student in one of the thirteen nonpublic eligible institutions whose teacher education curriculums are approved by the State Department of Education, and pursue a curriculum leading to a teacher's certificate.
3. Meet the conditions set by the college of his choice regarding the scholarship program in order to benefit from this award and be eligible to accept a renewal award.
4. Give bond that he will teach in the Maryland public schools for a minimum of two years following graduation.

F. D. Bittle, high school supervisor for the county, is in charge of the scholarship examinations. Any interested parents who wish to know more about these scholarships in teacher education may contact Mr. Bittle at the office of the Board of Education.

Final Mission Session Held At Methodist Church

The fourth and final class in the series of the Mission Study being conducted at St. Paul's Methodist church, Oakland, was held Sunday night, with Willard Hawkins giving the concluding talk on Hawaii.

Mr. Hawkins emphasized union labor situations, the race question and its statehood.

Miss Roberta Cogley led the devotions, developing the theme that the church must give of itself in order to promote the right missionary spirit in bringing God's Kingdom to the entire world.

A film strip featuring the people and their way of life in Hawaii, was shown. Hawaii probably will be the 50th state to enter the union.

Following the social period with the Mizpah class as hostess, the Commission on Missions composed of Mrs. Vernie Smouse, Miss Icie Friend, Mrs. Scott Shirer, Mrs. Dale Garman, Playford Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. E. Ray Jones met with Rev. Charles Godwin and made plans for future missionary work to be done as an outgrowth of the study course.

Attendance of youth and adults has averaged 70 for each meeting.

requested everything possible to be done to bring industry to county. He pointed out Oakland's steps to provide adequate water. L. C. Hutson also declared he hoped something could be worked out to keep the young people of the county in the county. He recommended communities should unite and work on county-wide basis and suggested that the County Commissioners appoint a representative committee to select a development industrial engineer to be hired on a full time basis.

Open Forum . . .

opinion that 75 percent or more of the service men do not favor a bonus payment, knowing full well that those veterans who have settled down, have a job, a family, and are working for a home, would pay three to four times in taxes what an individual would get back in the form of a bonus.

We feel that the government owes no man anything who served his country in an emergency. An individual gives that service to protect his liberty and all the other good things that his government has to offer.

Those of you who may not agree with this and those who do are invited to write their thoughts on paper, send them to The Republican, sign your name as an indication of your good faith; keep them brief and to the point; keep them free from libelous statements and in good taste. In this way we can let our legislators know what the majority is thinking. And all of us will be more enlightened.

Coal Stripping

Darrell Wotring asked consideration of the fact that coal strippers were coming into the county, placing a bond of $100 per acre, damaging county roads, then forfeiting bond. He felt the bond does not pay for repair to the county roads or backfill and he recommended that the bond be high enough to take care of repairs, rebuilding, etc.

H. D. Swartzentruber added that county roads were being badly damaged and discussed the taxable basis on coal. C. C. Nathan pointed out that strip miners pay tax on equipment and said if the bond was put too high, no one would strip mine. It was pointed out that $100 per acre was not enough to pay the cost of backfilling. Assessments on coal land vary from $3 to $100 per acre, depending upon various factors.

Minority Party

Elra Garletts felt that the minority party needed representation at all times.

Garbage Disposal

A Mr. Savage from McHenry asked consideration in providing garbage disposals in the McHenry area.

Sanitary District

Mayor Smith outlined problems before the town of Oakland on pollution. He asked for some thinking on the need of a Sanitary district which would make available, county, state and federal funds for construction work.

Carry Over for County Commissioners

Ross Crowe asked that they consider legislation so there would be one hold-over commissioner at all times. This was also recommended by George Hanst, editor of The Republican. Mr. Swartzentruber said this matter had been discussed with former Senator Friend and Arthur Green previously. He suggested that the high man on the ticket at the next election serve for six years and be ineligible to succeed himself. Second high man would serve four years and could seek re-election. Low man would serve two years and could seek re-election and would go in for a six-year term if elected. This would make a complete turnover every six years.

Limit on County Road Equipment Purchased

Mr. Crowe said the Farm Bureau felt this law should be changed. Purchase of new equipment is now limited to $25,000 per year and showed that repairs on old worn out equipment now exceeds $190,000 per year. He said the Farm Bureau felt it would be to the county's advanttage to change the law.

State's Attorney Salary and Public Welfare

Robert Stemple, executive director of the welfare board, outlined the program where welfare helped families where the husband or father had deserted the family and where charges of non-support had been brought. Until the court acts the Welfare board may now provide assistance. Stemple said there are no provisions to follow up a case to see why the husband or father does not support his family and that the salary set by law for the State's Attorney is not enough to allow him to devote full time to the job. He said the county was spending considerable money to take care of families where the husband or father is physically able to work and support them.

Women on Juries

Consideration of women serving on juries was requested by Mr. Crowe, Mrs. E. I. Baumgartner and by letter from Mrs. Kermit Glotfelty for the Republican Women's club. Richard Davis, clerk of the Circuit court, pointed out that Garrett county is the only county in Maryland where women do not serve on juries.

Blood Tests

Mrs. Glotfelty also requested laws requiring blood tests before marriage and for those persons working in public places handling food, etc.

Deputy County Treasurer

Joseph Welch, treasurer, requested legislation establishing a full time deputy treasurer, stating this had been recommended by auditors some time ago.

Mental Health

Mrs. Schroyer, Friendsville, requested cooperation in furthering the mental health program, declaring more money was needed for enlargement of institutions, higher salaries for better doctors and sufficient help as the institutions are presently understaffed and over-populated. Mrs. Seggie, Accident, said all mental institutions were in Southern Maryland and suggested Garrett county as a good location for any new hospitals.

Senator Gonder said the legislators would take under consideration the various items discussed. He left the way open for discussions about anything of interest to the people of the county at any time.

In a later meeting of the Commissioners and the legislators, there was a discussion of dog tax laws and the possibility of requiring building permits for the county. At the present time there is no law which requires this.

abled, $52,632.00; general public assistance, $12,620.16; board of children, $12,548.16; and administration, $56,594.78.

Thomas J. S. Waxter, director of the Department of Welfare for Maryland explained the basis for the proposed increases, pointing out that the amount of money paid to those receiving aid was not in line with the present cost of living which had risen 15 percent in recent years while assistance grants had been raised by 2 percent.

Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley discussed the problem of desertion and support as they concern the welfare board. Other matters up for discussion included immorality, illegitimacy and the need for closer screening of those who are unable to work and need treatment and rehabilitation so that they can become self-supporting.

Attending were the newly elected legislators and county commissioners, Welfare Board members, Mrs. Elizabeth Stockslager, Mrs. Beatrice Shirer, Mrs. William Ritchey, Donald J. Newman, Edward Smouse, Aubrey Brenneman and Mrs. Audrey Feid; Mrs. Elizabeth Schaub, field supervisor, State Department; and Robert W. Stemple, director. Mrs. Stockslager presided.

made for all necessary textbooks and that additional funds would be allotted for library books and the county testing program.

Mr. Hawkins outlined plans for a follow-up conference to the one held December 2 at Dennett Road school, concerning the improvement of the educational program.

The Board also:

Approved the purchase of a floor machine for the Grantsville school from Acorn Associates, for $282.75; approved final payment to Lawrence E. Hardesty of $10,582.16, for completion of Southern High band room; approved Dennis W. Durst as substitute bus driver for Ernest C. Durst; granted a maternity leave absence to Mrs. Jo Ann Robinson, physical education instructor at Northern High; considered a quotation of $4,000 for land needed by the Bloomington school, offered by Harry Kohne, Jr. No action was taken.

George Edwards, board member, submitted a request to consider a part-time custodian at the Grantsville school.

Mr. Hawkins announced that the old band room at Southern had been remodeled and would be used by the choral music department of the school starting next week.

Oswego, New York had over 50-inch snowfall, causing wide distress.

Completes Nurse Training

Miss Nancy Anne Mummert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Mummert, Oakland, recently completed a three-year nursing program at the Franklin Square hospital, School of Nursing, in Baltimore.

Miss Mummert was a graduate of the September 16th class along with seven other girls. She also completed her state board examinations October 28 and 29. A banquet and formal dance was held in their honor at the Sheration Belvedere hotel following graduation, at which time Miss Mummert was soloist.

At the present time Miss Mummert remains with the hospital staff holding a position as head nurse on night duty.

October Welfare Expenses $24,065

Public welfare expenditures for October showed a decrease over the previous month with 642 persons receiving $24,065.23 through the Garrett County Welfare board. Figures were released by Dr. Alvin Thalheimer, chairman of the state department of public welfare. The total does not include cost of local administration.

The report showed the total number receiving assistance was three less than the previous month and the total amount spent $220.31 less than for September.

Largest percentage of the total expenditure for October was for Old Age Assistance where 207 persons received $9,184.05, an average of $44.37 each. There were eight new applications here with three cases added and two cancelled.

Three hundred four children in 104 families received $8,793.24 under the Aid to Dependent Children category, an average of $84.55 per family. There were eleven new applications with five cases added and seven cancelled.

Five blind persons received $324.75. Eighty-five persons listed as permanently and totally disabled received $3,909.11, an average of $45.99. There were no new applications but one case was added and one case cancelled.

IN MEMORIAM

To one I dearly loved who died six years ago.
I often sit and think, and shed
many tears, dear Mom.
And think of how you died
To think you could not say goodbye
Before you closed your eyes.
The blow was hard, the shock severe
We never thought your death so near;
But only those who lost can tell
The pain of parting without farewell.

With lots of love
A. W. Fike

Next Two Games For Southern At Home

Southern High school's next two basketball games will be played at home. On Friday night the Highlanders will face Coach Leonard Ritchie's quintet from Bruce High school in Westernport. The Bruce High School Bulldogs defeated Northern in their opening game on Tuesday night by a score of 65 to 56. Ritchie, who is beginning the fourth season at Bruce was formerly a coach at Southern.

Next Tuesday the Highlanders will face the Black Knights of Valley. Coached by Johnny Miers the Valley quintet won sixteen and lost seven games last year. Recognized as one the stronger teams in the area this year's team is built around 230-pound George Lauder, who is on the squad for the fourth season. Lauder paced the Knights for 412 points in twenty contests last year. On Tuesday night they halted the two-game undefeated string of Piedmont with a 49-46 triumph of the Lions.

In two contests thus far Southern has won one and lost one. Last Friday the Piedmont Lions defeated the Highlanders by a score of 65-51 and Tuesday night of this week the Highlanders squeezed by Terra Alta 54 to 53.

On Friday, December 19, the Highlanders will journey to Petersburg.

County Feels Effect Of Severe Cold Spell

Although winter will not officially arrive until December 21, residents of Garrett county are feeling the effects of a severe cold spell.

Below zero readings have been experienced in the area for the past several mornings, with the three below zero reading being the lowest of the week for Oakland. However, at Big Savage mountain it was seven degrees below zero Tuesday for the coldest reading of the week. The high reading Wednesday was 17 degrees.

The mercury hovered around the zero mark this morning but there were indications that the cold wave was over. The county has about three and one-half inches of snow. Most roads were reported clear and there was no difficulty in traveling.

Below zero readings in this area prior to the first of the year are considered unusual. Thus far Oakland and Garrett county have escaped the record snowfall that has piled as much as five feet in certain areas in New York state with drifts piling up to twenty feet and over.

Piedmont Lions Win From Southern 67-51

The Piedmont High Lions took the opening game from Southern's Highlanders at Oakland last Saturday evening in a Potomac Valley conference game. The final score was 67 to 51.

The Miersmen had a hot first quarter for their margin of victory, the heat ending with the score 20 to 6 in favor of Piedmont. The Highlanders shook off a case of opening-game jitters after the first quarter and traded basket for basket with the Lions.

Taylor led the scorers with 25 points on 11 baskets and three for six fouls. Runners up for Piedmont were the Twyman brothers, each of whom finished with 17 points.

Terry Colaw was high man for Southern, marking up six field goals and eight for 11 fouls. Trailing him with 13 points was Leo Martin on six goals and one for three fouls. Don Stemple had two points, Ron Colaw, 3, Dick Stuck 6, James 2 and Carlson 5.

Others scoring for Piedmont were R. Russell 2, W. Russell 4, J. Richards 2.

The Highlanders stayed even with Piedmont in the second quarter, the halftime score being 35 to 20. The Southern hoopsters three in nine points in the third period compared to 14 for Piedmont, but in the final period Coach Carl Schnoover's players marked up 22 points with the Lions posting 18. Piedmont outscored the Highlanders from the field 29 to 19.

The Highlanders experimented with a number of player combinations. They played without the services of Jerry Wine, who is laid up with a broken ankle.

The Junior High team lost to the Piedmont Junior High in the final second of the game 26 to 25. The Highlanders led to 25 to 24 and with only seconds to go a Piedmont player stole the ball and raced for the basket. He threw just before the whistle and it sank through the net for the victory.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	II Corinthians	9	6-15
Monday	Romans	11	29-36
Tuesday	Luke	11	5-13
Wednesday	Matthew	5	21-26
Thursday	I Timothy	4	14-16
Friday	II Timothy	1	5-10
Saturday	James	1	17-18

Here's a present for Aunt Susie and Uncle Bill, for Cousin Kate and old Mrs. Higgins. But is there a present for God?

Foolish, you say? How could one possibly give God a Christmas present? Well, you can't give Him a package tied in bright paper and shining ribbon. But you can present to Him the gift of remembrance.

During your busy holiday season, stop for a moment to take stock of your life. Ask yourself what is really important about the Christmas season—and you'll know that He is.

Pause, even when you're rushed, to say a little prayer to Him. Christmas, after all, is His birthday. Can you do less than remember Him?

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

Bible Material: Mark 6:6b-13, 30-44.
Devotional Reading: Isaiah 6:1-8.

Go!

Lesson for December 14, 1958

A WEALTHY American woman with time on her hands and unable to become interested in any of the things that need doing around our country wanted above all things to "contemplate." She achieved her hope, and incidentally some notoriety for which she no doubt hadn't hoped; but as any one might guess, she had to go outside the Christian religion to find what she wanted. She joined the Zen sect of Buddhism, a sect that specializes in contemplation.

Dr. Foreman

What she was looking for was a spectator religion, and Christianity is not a spectator religion. A spectator sport is one you look at but don't play. A spectator religion is one where you just think. Buddha, the founder of the religion this lady chose, is nearly always pictured sitting down (and very fat he gets, too). The object of life for the Buddhist is to escape life. (Buddha himself started out by deserting his family.) The object of life for the Christian is to take his part in it, and by the way he takes part in it to change it.

"To Be With Him"

A religion which would be all action and no thought, would be as one-sided as a religion all thought and no action. A Christian who never drew aside from the crowd, who never tried to get a perspective on life, who never once asked himself, What am I doing here? What does life mean? Would be an unbalanced Christian, just as unbalanced as one who took out all his religion in meditation. There are two significant statements by Mark—mere phrase, but illuminating—which illustrate the two-sidedness of Christianity from the very first. When Jesus chose the Twelve, Mark says he appointed them "to be with him" (Mark 3-14), and "to be sent out." First of all they had to be with him. There would have been no use in sending them out before they were well acquainted with him, learning his mind and his purpose. It was important then and no less so today that a Christian, to be of service in the world, must live intimately enough with Jesus so that when he does active service he will serve in the spirit of Christ and not only his own.

"To Be Sent Out"

Dreaming is easier than doing. Plans can be made with less effort than production. If Jesus had appointed his apostles simply to be with him, and nothing further, he would have founded what Buddha did, an order of monks. Now there have been monks in Christendom, even "contemplative" monasteries from which no monk ever emerges into the world again. But the leaders of Christianity, from Jesus on, have never supposed that contemplation is the first and last word for Christians in this world. One of the last things Jesus said in the Upper Room, was, "I appointed you that you should go and bear fruit . . ." The very last thing that Matthew records Jesus as saying was a sentence beginning with the word "Go!" Now if a Christian has really been with Jesus, if he has absorbed his spirit and accepted his truth, he will in a real way take Jesus with him wherever he goes. (More correctly, Christ takes him.) Our Lord multiplies himself through these dedicated lives.

The Call Today

All that has been said is true for all Christians. But just as, in those days, some men, the apostles, were chosen as set-apart men with their whole energies given to the Christian witness, so in these days, God calls some Christians to some form of special full-time, set-apart service. Some are called to be evangelists, some pastors and teachers as Paul said. But young people do not always realize that ministers are not the only kind of full-timers there are. Most churches have a variety of places open for Christians of many different kinds of talents. If you will write to your denominations headquarters and ask what openings there are now, here and abroad, for full-time Christian service, you will be surprised—and very likely challenged—by the human needs which are crying, right now, for the help which the church is prepared to give . . . if they can find the dedicated people.

Stull and Magaha Nuptials Take Place At Hood Chapel

The marriage of Miss Johanna Magaha, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Magaha, of near Mount Airy, to Paul S. Stull, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond S. Stull, Thurmont, took place Saturday, November 29, in Coffman Chapel at Hood College, Frederick. Rev. Richard O. Thompson, pastor of the Lewistown Methodist church, officiated.

The altar was banked with white pompons, palms and lighted tapers. Miss June Miller of Brunswick was organist, playing a program of nuptial music and the wedding marches.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a gown of brocaded taffeta styled with an empire waist and princess skirt. The bodice featured a Sabrina neckline and long pointed sleeves. The skirt of unpressed pleats ended in a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a brocaded headdress. She carried a cascade of blush pink carnations.

Mrs. Edmund Mauzy, Brunswick, was matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Helen Stull, Thurmont, sister of the groom; Miss Janet Reck, Baltimore; and Mrs. Marvin Bures, Ellicott City. Miss Susan Magaha, Alexandria, Va., cousin of the bride, was junior bridesmaid.

Teen Corner

By DICK CASTILOW

Around about Easter, the Teen Age Club, working with Bob Brinker, hopes to have a bevy of recording stars for the pleasure of the club members. Nothing is settled yet and doing this is no easy task. Let's keep our fingers crossed and hope for the best. The way we must do this is to catch the stars going from Washington to Pittsburgh. If we can we almost have it made.

The Teen Club has been improving with almost every get-together. There seems to be more interest taken by the club members as well as more interest on the parental side of the fence. As I had previously remarked, the only way for a sounder teen ager-parent relationship is honesty. This is proving to be more and more true. There is no reason for any deception and the teens are beginning to realize this. Also the parents are starting to realize that there is much less to worry about Teen Club. There have been wonderful remarks made by parents and I believe that this alone shows more interest in our activities. It is a fine thing for a teen ager to feel trusted. Well if for some reason you should feel that there is no complete trust in your parents' relation with you, do something about it. Bring everything down on such an honest basis that they can do nothing else but trust you. Believe me, I know that this works.

If you all are stuck for something to do Saturday night, the Royales are playing at Silver Lake Park. No alchoholic beverages are sold or will they be tolerated upon the premises.

Remember "I Saw Mommy Kissing Santa Claus"? Well then, you all will want to hear the "Chipmunks Song." This is really the latest top Christmas thing. This should be acceptable to the parents too, why believe it or not, it's a waltz.

The top tunes for the week follow in this order according to Billboard (the Bible of the record business.) In the number one spot is the Teddy bears' "To Know Him is to Love Him." Hang down your head and look at "Tom Dooley" in the second spotlight, then last but not least is the dreamy one "It's Only Make Believe."

Thanks to The Music Shop and the employees for spending their time supplying me with the nation's top ones.

You know there really was a Tom Dooley! His real name was Tom Dula and he was a Civil War hero, and he was a "reb". And he did kill his gal. Capt. Grayson in real life was a school teacher named Cummings. Ah well, we've had our history for this week.

A special message for people who plan to buy a '59 car

By now you've had a chance to look over all the 1959 models. They're all on the market now, bright and shiny and dazzling as only new cars can be.

Now is the time to ask yourself the question, "Which car should I buy? Which car will give me the most value, the most satisfaction for my money?"

What do you want in a car?

We don't expect to sell everyone in 1959. We know that some people will end up buying small cars, and some, foreign imports. We accept the fact that a few will buy high-performance sports cars, and that others, because of their position, cars that cost far more than any Dodge. That's fine. We don't expect to sell them all.

But if you're in the market for a smart-looking, solidly built, full-sized car that's reasonably priced and that performs beautifully, a car designed for your comfort and convenience that you can drive with pride anywhere —WE ARE TALKING TO YOU.

Imitation is the sincerest form of flattery

Let's start with styling. How a car looks is an important consideration; no one buys a car they don't like. But styling, like beauty, is relative. What is hot stuff to one person is cold potatoes to another. So we will only say this about Dodge styling: Our competitors obviously like it. We think that's quite a tribute.

Rumor: Some '59 cars are hard to get into

You'd think all cars would be about as easy to get into and out of, and as comfortable to sit in. After all, they all have doors and they all have seats. The fact is, there's a big difference—particularly this year.

Frankly, some '59 cars are known to be a little difficult to get into, as well as out of. This wasn't intentional, of course. In trying to design a car that was as low and modern as our Swept-Wing Dodge, it just worked out that way.

This is not true of Dodge, because Dodge is designed around you. You get in easily and naturally, without banging your knee on the door post or the steering wheel. You sit on seats that give you wonderful support. There are no high door sills to trip over.

Of course, we won't even mention the fact that the other '59 cars don't offer Swing-Out Swivel Seats. Oops!

Which do you want: Push Buttons or a shift stick?

We know that a number of people like a lever-type automatic transmission. They've used them for years and they're satisfied. We have no quarrel with them. But there's a lot of wisdom in what Alexander Pope says in his Essay on Criticism: "Be not the first by whom the new are tried, nor yet the last to lay the old aside."

Push-button driving isn't new. This is the fourth year that Dodge has had it. We would guess that, conservatively, over two million owners have used it—and loved it. So we're not going to try to sell you on the ease of push-button driving; we do hope you'll just give it a try.

You want a modern ride, don't you?

You can divide all the '59 cars into two groups. Those (like Dodge) that have Torsion-Aire and those that have coil springs. Now don't get us wrong. Coil springs are okay. They've been used on cars for years.

But that's just the trouble. When you buy a 1959 car, you want a 1959 ride to go with it. That's Torsion-Aire. It's the newest, finest, most advanced suspension system in the industry. (Pardon our enthusiasm.) And remember this. You don't pay a penny extra for the extra comfort you get with Torsion-Aire. It's standard equipment.

Wouldn't you like to be pampered a little?

There's almost no end to the wonderful convenience features you can get in a '59 Dodge. Swing-Out Swivel Seats. (They're great!) Push-Button TorqueFlite transmission. Full-Time Power Steering. Outside mirrors that adjust from the inside. Inside mirrors that adjust themselves electronically to banish glare. They're all available at extra cost—and well worth it.

A few words about quality, performance and price

These are things that are hard to measure. What do you mean by quality? What constitutes good performance? What is a good buy? We would sum up our case for Dodge in this manner: It is a car that is well engineered and well built to give you years of driving satisfaction. It will more than match any other competitive car in the performance department. It is, we honestly believe, an extremely good buy for the money.

Are we prejudiced? You bet we are!

We'll admit we're prejudiced about our '59 Dodge. We think it's a great car. And if a new car is in your plans for 1959, we'd like the opportunity to convince you of this. How about giving us a chance, to show you this Dodge, to point out its many exclusive advances, to hand over the keys so that you can drive it and draw your own conclusion. We're ready any time you are. Why not make it soon?

Milwaukee, Wisconsin

No. 4887 Equity in the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a decree for a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII by the plaintiff from the defendant.

The Bill states:

That on the 30th day of May, 1955, she was married to the said Willis Leroy Herman, with whom she resided until October 19, 1956; that although the conduct of your oratrix toward her husband, the said Willis Leroy Herman, has always been kind, affectionate and above reproach, the said Willis Leroy Herman, has, without just cause or reason abandoned and deserted her, and has declared his intention to live with her no longer, and that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for more than eighteen months, is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that your oratrix and the said defendant, Willis Leroy Herman, have had one child born of said marriage, to-wit, Kimberly B. Herman, age nineteen months; that the said defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and resides at 1427 North Wells Street, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and your oratrix is now, and has been for more than one year prior to the filing of this bill, a resident of Garrett County, Maryland.

The bill then prays for a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII of the plaintiff from the defendant, for general relief and for an order of publication.

It is thereupon this 18th day of November, 1958, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, that the plaintiff by having a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 12th day of December, 1958, giving notice to the said absent defendant of the object and substance of this bill, warning him to be and appear in this Court, either in person or by solicitor, on or before the 27th day of December, 1958, to show cause, if any he has, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Large Number Tax Forms Being Mailed

A record number of Federal income tax forms are being mailed this month to residents of the Baltimore collection district which includes Garrett county.

Some 1,316,962 tax returns, forms 1040 and 1040A for area taxpayers are being mailed.

The annual job of designing the tax forms has been completed and the presses of the Government Printing office are now turning out the forms.

The returns for the Baltimore district taxpayers alone will require 124,720 pounds of paper. This is enough paper to make a single sheet that would cover over 215 acres.

A revised form 1040A, allowing most taxpayers with an income of less than $10,000 from salary or wages to file on the simple card form, was announced by the Revenue Service. The former limit was $5,000.

Fog bound Britain's pneumonia and bronchitis deaths jumped sharply in November, totaling 3,532.

Wonder of Christmas . . . . .

The excitement of realizing that there is a powerful and good force concerned with our lives and working beyond human knowledge first came to many of us as children at Christmas time. Santa Claus and gifts, the tinsel and Christmas trees, the dinner and fun with friends and family all set the stage. With these things gradually came an awareness of the story of Christmas, brought to vivid reality in the manger scenes depicting the birth of Jesus, in stories of the wise men who came to see Him, following the star of Bethlehem and bearing their gifts, and in countless other ways. Perhaps this awareness was brought most sharply to some by the powerful and beautiful Christmas carols which tell the story as nothing else can of what happened on that night and of the new hope and joy which the birth of our Lord brought to the world, and to each one of us.

Fortunate is the person who had this experience as a child. The years can only deepen his understanding and increase the strength which he draws from the Kingdom of God which has entered his heart. Such strength can mean survival for millions of oppressed people throughout the world and for our own country where more subtle threats are against the integrity and freedom of the individual.

The wonder of Christmas is the power which it gives each one among us to part the swirling mists of daily distractions and look again into the serenity, strength and meaning of the Kingdom of God that lies deep within our heart and souls. The Kingdom of God can come to anyone but only when it is accepted in simple trust and faith as by a little child, perhaps in the wonder of this Christmas season.

Arson Charged In Destruction Of Red Oak Home

Virgil Raymond Miller is being held in the county jail on a charge of arson, following the total destruction of a home by fire in the Red Oak section last Friday night.

Miller was given a hearing before Trial Magistrate Boyd Sanders, Sr., this week, at which time he pleaded guilty to maliciously setting fire and burning the dwelling of Mrs. Vernie F. Gregory. He was held for action of the March Term Grand jury and his bond was set at $2,500. He was placed in the county jail in default of bond.

According to a statement furnished the State's Attorney, Miller and Mrs. Betty Jane Burrows came to Oakland Friday afternoon. After spending several hours here they returned to the Gregory house where she resided with her grandmother. They got into an argument and Miller related that he kicked over the stove which fell apart, and the red hot coals spread over the floor. Two of Mrs. Burrows' children also resided in the house, Terry Eugene Rader, 6; and Louise K. Burrows, 3. They got out of the house safely. The grandmother in the meantime had gone to the home of a neighbor.

The Gormania fire company was called and it called the Oakland Fire department for an assist. Both companies were on hand but the flames had gained too great headway and the building and contents were destroyed.

Miller was arrested Friday evening.

The Oakland firemen answered a second alarm during the week.

Last Friday morning the firemen were called to the home of Mrs. Anna Hardesty, 8th street. A fire that was spreading to the roof of the home was extinguished with slight damage.

Jr.-Sr. Choruses Of Southern to Present Christmas Program

The annual Christmas program of the junior and senior chorus of Southern High school, Oakland, will be presented Monday evening, December 22, at 8 o'clock. Some fifty members will participate.

The initial part of the entertainment will be provided by the Junior High chorus under direction of Miss Barbara Lee Colabrese. The processional to the strains of "O Come All Ye Faithful" will be followed by Christmas music of a serious nature: "Go Tell It on the Mountain," a Negro spiritual; "Christmas Day," a German Carol; "Bring a Torch, Jeanette Isabella," a French carol, with Sue Martin as soloist; "Come All Ye Shepherds," a Bohemian carol.

Christmas music of a lighter vein will follow including "Twelve Days of Christmas," an old English carol; "The Rock and Ro-wells No-well," Dillen; "Christmas and the Christmas Alphabet," "The Night Before Christmas," by Moore-Waring, in which Mary A. Sims and Edward Umstot will portray mother and father with their dozen children and Kerry Feather acting as Santa Claus.

Also "We Wish You a Merry Christmas", an English-American carol.

During a brief intermission the Ivy Leaguers, Lady Bugs and Southernettes will provide musical Christmas cheer.

The senior chorus under direction of Mrs. Ruth C. Brown, will present the following:

Candlelight processional, "Carol of the Bells," by Wilhousky; "Rejoice Ye Christians Loudly," Bach; trio, "Silent Night," by Carroll Miller, Kenneth Paugh, and Edward Umstot at the piano; vocal solo, "The Birthday of a King," by William Burgwald.

A cantata, "The Song of Christmas," by Ringwald, will be given. Narrators will be Wayne Callis, Wesley Lane, and Amanda Dixon. Soloists will be Margaret Vetter, Margaret A. Martin, Edward Umstot, Benjamin Ridder, Carroll Miller, Richard Snyder, Brenda DeBerry and Robert Oliverio. This will be followed by the Hallelujah chorus from the Messiah, by Handel, and a candlelight recessional.

The Art department is designing the setting. The public is invited. To help defray expenses there will be an admission charge of 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

Christmas Issue Will Be Early

This is just a reminder that the Republican's Christmas issue will be published early. The issue will be dated Thursday, December 25, but will be published on Tuesday, December 23, in order that the Christmas greetings of our numerous advertisers may be distributed prior to Christmas Eve.

Because of the early date all correspondents are urged to send in their material by Saturday, if possible, or not later than Monday noon, to insure their publication in the week's issue.

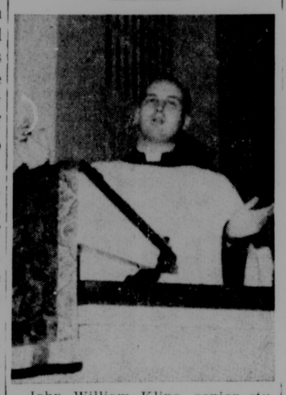
Accepts Call To Bittinger Parish



John William Kline, senior student at the Lutheran Theological Seminary in Gettysburg, has accepted a call to serve the three Lutheran churches in the Bittinger parish.

After accepting the unanimous call of the parish, Pastor Kline plans to come to Bittinger every week-end, and expects to do some visiting and attend to other pastoral duties. He has made known his desire for members to give to him the names of any sick in the parish, or any in other need of his ministry.

He plans to move into the parsonage at Bittinger soon after his graduation on March 6.

Mr. Kline was born in suburban Philadelphia. He attended State Teachers' college, West Chester, Pa., and Drew Theological School.

He was formerly of the Methodist faith, and served the Thompson Methodist parish, Thompson, Pa., from June, 1956 to June 1957.

Both he and his wife then became Lutherans, and he enrolled as a student at the Gettysburg Theological Seminary. He is a graduate in music education, and his wife, a graduate of Penn State college, is also a graduate in music.

This parish has been without a pastor for three years, since the death of the last pastor, James A. Allan. They have been served regularly by students from the seminary at Gettysburg, and the parish work has gone on in all the churches. During that period some physical improvements were made in all the churches. New floors and new pews were installed in St. John's church, Meadow Mountain, and the new church hymnals are now in use in this congergation. At Zion, Jennings, a new floor covering and other improvements were made, and a new electronic organ was purchased. At Emmanuel, Bittinger, improvements were made in the basement and a new electronic organ was purchased. New hymnals will soon be in use in this congregation.

Teen Age Club Will Provide Baskets

Members of the Oakland Teen Age club are planning to provide baskets of food and clothing for four families of the community who are in need.

The Teen club, which has some money in the treasury, will buy the food for the baskets and the members are asking for contributions of toys or clothing from individuals or organizations.

Fred Tichnell, club manager, revealed that there are twelve girls and fifteen boys in these families. The girls range in age from six to eighteen years, while the boys range in age from two to seventeen.

Any person having clothing or toys may contact Mr. Tichnell at DE 4-2468, or Kenneth Martin, DE 4-2380. They will pick up the material from any point, or it may be dropped off at the homes of either Mr. Tichnell or Mr. Martin.

Tichnell said that if there would be an excess of items that they have other persons in mind that could be helped also. He asked that people be liberal. Tichnell said the idea of helping these families came from the teen-agers themselves.

There was snow both Saturday and Sunday along with the cold temperature, and the weather remained clear and cold Monday and Tuesday with some moderation occurring Tuesday.

Former Area Resident Victim Of Strangler in Baltimore

A 61-year-old practical nurse and housekeeper, who was a former area resident, went out to sweep the sidewalk in front of her home last Sunday morning in Baltimore. An hour later, she was found strangled.

The victim, Mrs. Lottie R. Kight, lived with and cared for an invalid woman. Police found the body shortly after 8 a. m. and thus far have been unable to explain the circumstances of her death. Police were called in by the victim's 19-year-old daughter who became alarmed when her mother failed to return from sweeping the sidewalk.

Mrs. Kight was the daughter of the late Elder Emra T. Fike and Rebecca Umble Fike, and was born near Eglon, July 6, 1897. Rev. Olonzo P. Fike, formerly of Accident, now residing in Baltimore, is a brother, and the woman has a number of cousins by name of Kight in this area.

Police said there were no signs of a struggle or wounds except for small scratches on the neck. Her hands were clenched and bloody, leading police to believe she might have scratched her assailant. She was fully dressed except for her bedroom slippers. Police found a trail of tiny blood spots leading along an alley beside the house.

The daughter told police her mother had gone outside about 6:30 to begin the chore which she performed every day before going to church. When she looked outside about 7:30 she could find only the broom, dustpan and bucket and the pair of bedroom slippers. She was found in the neighboring areaway.

Police broadcast a lookout for men with scratched faces and took samplings of the blood spots. The bloodstains were found not be the type of the slain woman's blood, proving the woman had injured her assailant before she was slain.

It was theorized that she must have struck her assailant on the nose, possibly with the broom handle, causing it to bleed profusely. Investigators continued to pick up for questioning men with cuts on their faces. Several were released after their alibis were checked by police.

Mrs. Kight is survived by her step-mother, Mrs. Pearl Fike, of Terra Alta; one son, Orville A. Kight; four daughters, Mrs. Florence Smith, Mrs. Arlene Brandonberge, Mrs. Elma Purck, and Miss Normalee Ruth Kight, all of Baltimore; two sisters, Mrs. Bertha Whitacre, Luray, Va.; Mrs. Loretta Diehl, Hummeltown, Pa.; and one brother, Olonzo P. Fike, Baltimore, and four grandchildren. Her husband, Homer C. Fike, died January 16, 1945.

Deceased was a member of the Church of the Brethren. The body was expected to be brought to the Fike and Watson Funeral home in Terra Alta today and there were plans to hold the funeral service from the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren at Eglon on Friday. Burial will be in the Kight family cemetery near the Mountain Grove church.

Former Park Pastor Dies Very Suddenly

Rev. William B. Orndorff, aged 50, pastor of the First Baptist church of Westernport for the past sixteen years, died suddenly Sunday afternoon at the church parsonage.

Rev. Orndorff had conducted the morning service at his church and then returned to the parsonage adjacent to the church, and swept the snow from the front porch. Upon returning to the living room he collapsed in a chair.

A physician was summoned but Rev. Orndorff was dead upon arrival of the doctor.

A native of Augusta, W. Va., he was born May 3, 1898, one of eight children of the late Thompson and Sarah Ellen Albright Orndorf.

He was educated in the schools of Hampshire and Mineral counties and continued his schooling at the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago, and the Philadelphia School of the Bible. After serving as a business executive for ten years he was ordained to the ministry on September 6, 1934.

Rev. Orndorff was married to the former Lola Blanche Browning of Flintstone on July 8, 1925.

First Baptist church in Westernport was his third pastorate in the Western Maryland District association. His first pastorate was the Eckhart Baptist church and prior to accepting the Westernport appointment, he served the Baptist churches of Garrett county, with residence in Loch Lynn Heights.

He held the Sunday School Workers diploma and advanced masters diplomas in the Sunday School and Training Union courses offered by the Sunday School Board.

For two years Rev. Orndorff served as president of the Maryland Baptist Pastors Conference and was vice-moderator of the Western District for two terms. He was active on various committees of the district.

The First Baptist church at Westernport had increased in membership from 160 to 284 during his tenure and under his direction additions to the church and Sunday School were made and the present parsonage purchased.

Rev. Orndorff was a past president of the Tri-Towns Ministerial association and was a member of Garrett Lodge No. 113, Knights of Pythias, in Oakland.

Survivors include his widow, two daughters, Mrs. J. Milton Templeton, Alexandria, Va.; Mrs. Herbert B. Koch, Oakland; five brothers, Alvin, Keyser; Amos, Akron, O.; Ervin, Rawlings; Finley, Burlington, W. Va.; and Marvin, Alexandria; two sisters, Mrs. Stella Haines, Martinsburg, W. Va.; Miss Etta Orndorff, Burlington; two grandchildren, Kevin Koch, Oakland; and William Templeton, Alexandria.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the First Baptist church with burial in the Philos cemetery.

Officiating at the services were Rev. Archie B. Prevatte, pastor of the First Baptist church, Cumberland. Active pallbearers were deacons of the church. Trustees of the church and members of the Tri-Towns Ministerial association were honorary pallbearers.

Postoffice Has Extra Help For Christmas Rush

The Oakland postoffice has seven additional employes to take care of the holiday rush.

Donald M. Browning, postmaster, said the office had hired Percy Lawton as substitute clerk; Osborne Dale Mason as substitute dispatch clerk; Wilmer Graves, Herbert M. Turney and Charles Wade Mason, Jr., substitute carriers; and Wade Janoske and Hugh Maffett as substitute rural carriers.

Browning said the activity was picking up considerably within the past few days after a comparatively slow start.

Postoffice Cancellations Are Down Slightly

Postoffice cancellations for Monday and Tuesday were down some from the previous year, but this drop was expected to be overcome during the remaining days this week.

For the same period last year there were 76,325 cancellations of outgoing mail, compared to 73,468 for Monday and Tuesday of this year. An all-time record was set last year.

Plan "Open House" For New Physician

Aurora, W. Va., and the surrounding communities are planning an open house and reception for Dr. Alfred Owre, Jr., M. D., and his family.

Dr. Owre and family recently moved into the community. Aurora has been served by the late Drs. Harold and Blanche Miller, of Eglon until their death a few years ago.

The open house and get acquainted party will be held Sunday, December 21, at 3 o'clock p. m., in the Aurora High school. The invitation to attend is extended to all people of the area.

Dr. Alfred Owre, Jr., is a recent graduate of the Yale Medical School and is one of the founders of the Fairmont clinic. Prior to that time he practiced in Madison, Conn. He is a veteran of World War II.

His father, also a physician, was dean of the Dental school of the University of Minnesota and later, of Columbia university in New York City.

Mrs. Owre, the former Chrisene Rennie, is a graduate of Yale School and Toronto General School of Nursing. They have two children, Jane Cunningham and Alfred Owre III, ages seven and four respectively.

Christmas Treat Set For Saturday, 1 p. m.

Arrangements are completed for the annual Christmas treat to all children in Oakland and nearby towns, which will be distributed Saturday afternoon, December 20, at 1 o'clock.

The treat is sponsored by the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce and is made possible by contributions from individuals, business places and organizations. C. L. Briner, chairman of the committee, said some $600 had already been received which assured the success of the project.

Last year some 2,500 treats were given out and it was estimated that this would be equaled or bettered this year.

Briner said the place of giving the treat would be moved away from the cornor of Second and Green streets. The line was scheduled to form in front of the Minnich Funeral home. Assisting in giving the treat will be members of the National Guard, the Explorer Scouts, and the committee members which include Merrill Cargo, Arthur Calhoun, N. A. Coplin, Willard Hawkins, Kenneth Johns and Edward Smouse.

Briner said that Santa Claus would be picked up by the Oakland Fire department truck and would be escorted to the treat area about 1 o'clock. Santa Claus has appeared at this event for a number of years.

Local Hotel Recommended By Duncan Hines Book

The William-James hotel in Oakland has obtained unusual recognition in the 1959 edition of "Duncan Hines Adventures in Good Eating," just off the press.

It is the only restaurant in Oakland included among the 3,500 selected restaurants recommended by Duncan Hines out of a total of one-third million eating places in North America.

The hotel, for the past month, has been under the management of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Storm, who came to Oakland from College Park on November 15. They succeeded Mr. and Mrs. Curtis M. Kelley.

Mr. and Mrs. Storm are natives of Holland. Prior to their operation of a motel in College Park they managed a hotel and restaurant in the Dutch West Indies at Curacao, and previous to that were in the hotel business in Holland.

Two Skating Ponds Are Now Available

After years of trying to popularize skating in the area and attempting to obtain places to skate, there are now two areas within walking distance of town.

Last year one skating pond was completed in rear of Southern High school, along the Dennett Road. This year another one was completed, adjacent to the Oakland golf course clubhouse. Both spots have electric lights making them both available for night skating. The latter one was completed through cooperation of the Mayor and Town Council.

Jacob Froman's Mill

By DENNIS T. RASCHE

Froman's Mill—Artist's Conception

Soon after the end of the French and Indian War in 1763 a great tide of pioneers began surging across the Appalachian mountains toward the rich lands of the Ohio Valley. By 1765 a few families reached the area now Garrett County, at the westernmost end of Maryland. After traveling many miles of forest leading pack horses laden with their equipment and belongings and driving a few domestic animals before them, they suddenly emerged into a considerable expanse of open country subsquently, to be known as The Glades.

In New England and elsewhere forest land had first to be cleared before crops of grain could be planted and harvested. This necessitated laborious, back-breaking toil, as well as much time.

The settlers of the Glades area were spared this toil and delay. John Friend and his brothers acquired from friendly Indians some land already cleared at the present site of Friendsville. Joseph Tomlinson pulled up at Little Meadows, so named because it was not forested. The Ashby families arrived at the southern edge of the Glades country.

Here in an almost treeless, rolling countryside. The lush grass grew nearly waist high, providing forage for the cattle, horses, and other animals. Such of the land as was naturally drained could at once be broken by the plow.

In one growing season then the pioneers could bring forth from the rich, virgin soil crops of wheat, corn, oats, or other grains. This done, a means of grinding the grain into flour was an immediate and imperative need.

During the first years they may have sent the grain to Fort Cumberland by pack horses to be ground. But the round trip over the crude trails of the time would have taken several days. Their great-great-grandchilren can now go there and back in three hours, driving at moderate speeds.

Before the coming of the white men the Indians had pounded their corn into coarse meal by means of a primitive mortar and pestle, a big stone with a bowl-like cavity and a smaller round stone. In a larger boulder at Kitzmiller such a mill was found. With their iron tools the settlers could have improved on this. But they were used to bread made of finer flour and would have been content with nothing less.

Conceivably some pioneer might have brought the very ancient hand mill called the quern, but this ground too slowly to supply more then one family. It was this type of mill much enlarged and fifty-fold heavier that the blinded Samson was forced by his Philistine captors to turn (Judges 17:21).

The pioneer miller fashioned his grindstones of native stone on the spot with chisel and mallet. Or perhaps, skilled artisans rode out from Fort Cumberland or Winchester to do this.

Once the problem of grindstones was solved, the early miller would not be stayed by other engineering difficulties. Every settler needed to be a jack-of-all-trades. At hand was ample power in the scores of fast-running brooks and streams.

The earliest of the grist mills was set up around 1774 near Blooming Rose, a stream called Bear Camp Run suppiying the power. Its builder, Jacob Froman, was a Hollander, his name Anglicised from Vrooman. During the construction it may be imagined the scattered settlers, keenly interested in the enterprise, walked er rode into the settlement from time to time. On these occasions, friendly banter would be bandied back and forth, and many whimsical suggestions jocularly offered. Froman would be kidded about the golden thumb millers were proverbially supposed to have, and his affluence to come.

Along with the chaffering there would be an exchange of news. It was at a time when news from the seaboard a few hundred miles distant was exciting and portentous. Discontent had been developing for some years because of oppressive measures enacted by the British Parliament, of which the Stamp Act was only one, and heightening with successive events. A ferment of revolutionary ideas seethed throughout the colonies and were gradually rising to the boiling point. They were to culminate in the clash of arms, in bloodshed and carnage, the birth pangs of a new nation. Issues settled then in this country plague the world elsewhere today. People clamor for self-determination in Hungary and other satellite countries, in Korea, Indo-China, Cyprus, Algeria.

Occasional horsemen came bringing weeks-old newspapers. The pioneers avidly discussed each development. Probably some could recite from memory Patrick Henry's great speech.

In due course of time, the mill was built; the ponderous overshot water wheel to turn. Froman's mill had a mechanical blower wherewith to winnow the grain before it was fed into the grindstones, at the time a new-fangled gadget. This was still the day of the threshing floor and flail, unchanged since very ancient times. During many centuries grain was winnowed by throwing a little at a time into the air on a day when the wind was brisk. The wind blew the chaff away—some of it, anyway.

The ground grain passed over two screens, one coarse, the other finer. These were shallow box-like frames screened on the bottom, geared to the moving machiney so as to be kept in a vibrating motion and slightly inclined to keep the ground particles moving toward the lower end. The screened meal was then carried to an upper floor and fed into a revolving barrel-shaped frame with sides of bolting cloth, this also turning on an inclined axis.

The miller's fee was a portion of the grain brought in, sometimes as much as a fourth.

Immediately upon the mill's completion patrons from far and near arrived with their grist. Little was thought in those days of the time consumed and distance traveled going to a mill. One instance is recorded of a young boy riding thirty miles each way leading a string of grain-laden pack horses.

Those early mills, like the crossroads store or the blacksmith shop, were centers for neighborly chit chat and exchange of ideas. The trails were eagerly watched for other riders who might bring more news. Ominous events continued to develop, each generating excited comment and heated debate.

There may have been varying shades of opinion. Some few may have clung to their loyalty to the crown and honestly doubted the wisdom of sundering all the ties binding the colonies to the Mother country. Four-score odd years later many in the South were to have similar misgivings over the course their section was being led into by eloquent and influential firebrands and hotheads, a course that was to bring appalling bloodshed and destruction upon the still-young nation.

In the 1770s democracy was a noble ideal but as yet not a fully tested theory of government. But, if there were differences of opinion among the pioneers, on one thing they were in agreement—they all hated taxes like poison.

Before the mill stones had been turning a year those "shots heard 'round tthe world" were fired at Lexington and Concord. Plain country folks like the miller and his patrons had shot it out with British regulars! Excitement now rose to fever heat.

One day in mid-July of 1776 a rider came with big news! Eminent and respected men had met, gravely discussed, and adopted a Declaration, one of the great documents of history.

Froman dusted the flour off his shirt and pants, cleaned and oiled his flint-lock, and with Aaron Parker, John and Augustine Friend and the former's son Gabriel, proceeded to Ehawnee Old Town to enroll in a 64-man company of Maryland militia. Somewhere along the route, they were joined by William Wilton Ashby from the southern fringe of the Glades area. At Little Meadows Jesse Tomlinson was waiting to fall into step with them.

At the war's end all returned unscathed. Tomlinson to build the second of the grist mills, in 1795 or 1797 at Little Meadows, the site of Braddock's fourth camp.

Descendants of Ashby and the Friend brothers are numerous today. People named Friend number 2.4 percent of the county's registered voters. Their women-folk whose names were changed by marriage if added in might make the total close to 5 percent. Women descended from these patriots of 1776 could if they desired form quite a big chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

During the first half century of settlement other grist mills were built at or near the present-day locations of Swanton, 1797, Kitzmiller, 1802, Selbysport, 1805, Bloomington, 1810, and Meshack Browning's mill at Sang Run, 1821.

William W. Ashby or his descendants built a mill near Gortner, supposedly after 1820. This mill was unique in that it was driven by an undershot water wheel. The early millers installed the overshot wheel when possible, as it developed two and a half times as much power as the other.

Some of the early mills could grind only five or six bushels of grain a day.

For many years those early millers and others after them performed their useful and essential service. But methods change; economic evolution is an ever-continuing process. Through the centuries many age-old, once-necessary occupations have been casualties of the advance of technology.

A few of the old mills still stand, always favorite subjects for artists and photographers. Some few are operated as hobbies; one retired Air Force general renovated an ancient mill and runs it just for the fun of it. This is in North Carolina.

Otherwise only the imperishable mill stones seen here and there as decorative oddities recall to mind a once very important local industry.

The miller, his task well done, is among the yesterdays with his contemporaries, the harness maker, the farrier, the man who once drove herds of cattle afoot to city markets, and others—many others.

Black Knights Top Southern High 59-43

Valley High's Black Knights continued on their undefeated ways Tuesday night by downing Southern High 59 to 43 on the local court.

The Knights copped their fourth consecutive victory with George Lauder showing the way for the winners with 22 points. Lauder, four-year veteran with the Detmolders, caged 12 of his total in the second quarter to send Valley out in front to stay. The teams battled to an 8-8 first quarter tie. Southern went ahead early in the second period and still led at 15 to 14, but after that it was all Valley.

Southern was without the services of Harland Carlson, who was laid up with an injured ankle. Jerry Wine, also out with an ankle injury since early in the practice season, will not be with the team until in January.

After the first quarter Southern had difficulty in penetrating the Valley defense and were unable to hit the basket with any degree of regularity.

For Valley Winner had 12 points and Metts had 11. Terry Colaw sparked Southern with 12 tallies on four field goals and four out of five fouls. Martin had 9 points, James had 4, R. Colaw had 5, Bolyard had 3, Duling 4 and Stuck 6 to complete the scoring. Bill Stemple, Don Stemple and Lee were non-scoring.

The Knights found the range for 24 field goals against 16 for Southern. Valley also made 11 of 15 fouls as compared to 11 out of 23 for Southern. Valley led at half time 31 to 21, increased the lead 47 to 27 at the end of the third period. Southern outscored the Black Knights 16 to 12 in the final period but the spurt came too late.

Valley Jayvees also won the preliminary game from the Southern Jayvee team.

Southern will journey to Petersburg on Friday evening for its final game prior to the Christmas vacation. A game with the alumni is scheduled for December 30.

Tips For a Safe Holiday Season

Don't turn your holiday joy into tragedy, cautions Joanne Reitz, University of Maryland home management specialist.

Miss Reitz offers these suggestions for insuring a happy holiday season:

Trees: Store your tree in a cold place until ready to set it up, and then erect it away from radiators and other sources of heat. Never place it so that it will block an exit. Make a fresh cut diagonally in the trunk at least one inch above the original cut. Keep the base of the tree in a water-filled container all during the holidays.

Check the wiring of all tree lights for defects and loose sockets, and avoid overloading circuits with this added illumination. Turn off the tree lights when no one is in the room. Take the tree down as soon as it begins to shed needles or shows signs of dryness.

Trimmings: Greens should be placed away from heat and all possible sources of sparks. Just as with a tree, as soon as the decorations become dry, they should be removed.

Look for fire-proof or fire resistant labels on the decorations you buy. Never use lighted candles near greens or other possibly flammable decorations.

Never set a lighted candle in a window where curtains may blow into the flame.

Clean up after Christmas gift opening. A cigarette spark can turn the left over wrappings into the starting fuel for a fire tragedy.

Southern High Tops Bruce High 67 to 58

The Southern High Highlanders chalked up their second victory last Friday night by handing the Bruce High Bulldogs a 67-58 setback on the Oakland court.

Coach Carl Schoonover's Highlanders battled back after trailing 14 to 9 at the close of the first period for a 31-25 halftime lead and a 50-39 margin as the final stanza opened.

Bruce, which copped its opener last week against Northern 65-56, was out produced by only 26 field goals to 25, but Southern sparkled at the foul line where they converted 15 of 24 penalty tosses.

Terry Colaw led the winners with 17 points, while Harland Carlson had 14 and Leo Martin chipped in with 13. Robert Kaibaugh and Willison were high for Westernport with 17 tallies each.

The players and scoring: Carlson 14, Bill Stemple 3, Martin 13, T. Colaw 17, D. Stemple 10, R. Colaw 0, Dick Stuck 10. James, Duling, Savage and Bolyard were non-scoring.

The Bruce High Jayvees won the preliminary game.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON

President of Harding College

In the nationwide elections last month 46,000,000 people voted. That constituted about 60 percent of the eligible voters in the United States. In other words, four out of every 10 eligible voters failed to exercise this great individual freedom and thus defaulted on their greatest citizenship responsibility. Even though only 60 per cent voted, this was a far bigger percentage than vote regularly in local, county and state elections. The sad fact is that counting all elections, only about 20 per cent of the eligible voters vote regularly.

Even among the 60 per cent who did vote last month, not more than 10 per cent actually worked in a precinct political organization trying to win victory for the candidates and issues of a particular political party. In other words, most American citizens are not active politically. The only political responsibility they accept is the casting of a ballot. They take no part in the actual selection of candidates or issues. They do not get down into the firing line of politics at the precinct level. All these responsibilities are left to a comparatively small group.

Lenin in Russia 40 years ago set out to win a political objective. He had only 40,000 followers. But they were zealous in their cause. They were willing to work and make sacrifices of time and energy. This little group of Communists won their first objective — the overthrow of the Russian government and the establishment of a Marxist Socialist state. Today the Communist Party whose leaders run Russia (and have enslaved a big segment of the world's people) numbers about 6,000,000 — or 3% of the population of Russia. They are working at, and winning control of the world.

In England during the last 50 years a tiny group of people who called themselves Fabian Socialists worked zealously and effectively in politics, and they finally won control of Britain and drastically changed the governmental structure. In a few years, they had so dissipated the economic strength of the nation that there is now serious doubt that Britain's 50,000,000 people will escape the quagmire of total Socialism or Communism.

Throughout history we find similar clear lessons reaffirming that no people can long default on their full political responsibilities and continue to be free. In our National Education Program workshop in Searcy, we have developed a dramatic sound-color filmstrip which brings this fact right to the doorstep of the families of America. It is being offered to individuals, groups, associations, political parties, industries, employee organizations, civic clubs and schools.

The filmstrip presentation is entitled, "A Citizen's Political Responsibility." Its stated objectives are: (1) to promote better individual citizenship by motivating the citizen to understand politics and become active in the party of his choice; and (2) to inform the citizen in the practical aspect of political action at the precinct level. It might well be called "a blueprint" for individual or group political action. It is being distributed at production cost — $18 with turntable disc and $20 with tape recorded playback. This is another public service of our National Education Program designed to strengthen and safeguard the structure of American freedom.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1958

Letter to the Editor

December 15, 1958

The Republican,
Oakland, Maryland.

In your open forum column in the December 11th issue, you made several statements, and invited comments from the public. First I want to compliment you generally on this column and agree with many of the stands you have taken on many important issues in Garrett County. I am writing to you as a native Garrett countian, born and reared in Swanton, attending Oakland High school and working in Garrett county for five years. I have worked and lived in Ohio for the past seven years and can give you information from my own experience with which I think most of the working people in Garrett county will agree.

I would like to comment on the statement you made, quote "We personally feel any legislation on a soldier bonus would be inflationary, require the raising of one hundred millions of dollars, and for what?" The word inflation in Garrett county really gives anyone working for an hourly wage a laugh, how much cheaper is a new car, or a refrigerator, or clothing or new pair shoes in Oakland, than any other place in the U. S. If any difference at all they are higher from lack of competition. But wages, that's a horse of a different color. Here the top men in Oakland cry we must keep inflation down. The lowest paid man in the factory in which I'm employed makes over $2.00 per hour. In Oakland a man is in the higher brackets if he makes over $1.00 per hour, and I know a lot who make much less. I, along with hundreds of others who couldn't make a living in Garrett county, have had to leave and find a job elsewhere so we could make wages that at least keeps abreast of the rising cost of living. Those who are still there have to pay the same prices for what they buy as the person who lives where wages are inflated.

You wonder how to keep the young people at home? I'll give you an idea, inflate wages to where they should be and the young people will stay to work in the place where they were reared and love, rather than leave.

Next the statement, quote "We feel that the government owes no man anything who served his country in an emergency."

As for pay for the hours a GI spent in a foxhole, on a ship, in a plane or the many thousand other jobs he did in the war, I agree. The veteran can't be paid. How could you set a price on a man's arm he lost in North Africa, or a leg in France, or the lonely hours he spent away from everyone and everything he loved. No, you can't pay a veteran for what he's done, the debt is much too great. But the majority of the states have said in effect, boys you did a good job, we all couldn't go, and while you were over there for $50 a month we were enjoying the comforts of our homes and families, so here's a little gift to say, thanks! No, it's not pay, but a token of appreciation for the sacrifices you made.

And maybe this extra money in turn would help to inflate to some degree the wages which so badly need inflating in Garrett county.

Sincerely yours,
JAMES W. BAKER.

Rural Development Committee To Seek Drainage Project

The Land Resources Sub-Committee voted last week to continue their attempt to secure a special tile drainage cost-share practice in the A. C. P. program for Garrett County, according to Herbert Wildesen, chairman.

Present at the meeting held December 11 at Oakland were Herbert Wildesen, committee chairman; A. W. Riley, and L. P. King, Grange representatives; Curtis Savage, A. S. C. County Chairman; and Foster Yost, S. C. S. County Chairman. Others present in an advistory capacity were Elbert Riley, A. S. C. office manager; William W. Nace, soil conservation service advisor; and Barry Carr, Assistant County Agent.

Wildesen said the committee plans to invite a representative of the State Rural Development committee and a representative of the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission to make a trip to Garrett County for a first-hand inspection of glade land areas on county farms. This will be followed up by a request to send a county farmer to the state Rural Development Committee meeting set for January 19.

He said he hoped the State Committee would endorse the special practice in view of the fact that Garrett County has been designated a Rural Development Pilot County. Such an endorsement would aid in getting the practice approved by State and National A. C. P. Committees, he added.

The special practice was submitted to the State Agricultural Conservation Development Group for approval in September. The State Committee declined to approve the practice on the recommendation of the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission and declaring it was against the National policy to bring additional agricultural land into production.

Issues Advice On Snow Shovelling

With winter storms leaving a tragic toll of heart deaths among persons, mostly over 50 years of age, from wielding snow shovels or pushing stalled automobiles, the Heart Association of Allegany-Garrett county this week issued some suggestions.

Dr. Sidney Scherlis, Baltimore, has advised:

If you have heart disease, don't shovel snow or push stalled autos, unless doctor approves. Treat snow shovelling like any other exercise. If young and healthy, shovel to your heart's content. If over 40 and healthy shovel moderately. It is good advice to do any or any other exercise before rather than after eating.

Distribute shovelling through the whole body, not just the arms. Never shovel to point of exhaustion.

What strains the heart in any exercise like shovelling snow is the sudden demand for more blood from overworked muscles, he said.

Sunday Christianity

It's quite popular to attend Church Services these days. We are urged through newspaper slogans and TV advertising to attend the "Church of your Choice" and the result is a notable increase in Church attendance. Now most Preachers and Church people are happy about this surge of interest and yet when analyzed there is little cause for optimism. It seems to be merely a one day Christianity that has little effect upon their lives after they leave the Church. There seems to be little holy about the way they spend the rest of the Lord's Day. Their religion somehow does not effect the way they carry on their business from Monday through Saturday. As one preacher put it so aptly, "The world is sick of Church people who go to Church on Sunday and then curse God and live like the ungodly during the week." There are three primary reasons for Church Services. (1) The worship of God by prayer, by praise and the quiet reflection upon His holy Word. (2) That through the preaching of the Gospel, the unsaved may come to know Christ. (3) That Christians may be instructed in the way of right living. This then involves more than the sacred one hour on Sunday. Let's make our faith a seven day a week Christianity.

Keep Christmas Trees Green and Fresh

When you buy your Christmas tree, choose one that is as freshly cut as possible. It will be a safer tree and keep fresh longer, too.

Harry W. Dengler, University of Maryland Extension forester, says it's a good idea to buy your tree from your local dealer. It's to his advantage to see that your tree is freshly cut. If the needles fall off easily while handling, don't buy the tree, Dengler said. It isn't fresh.

Water will help your tree to retain its "alive" look. When the tree is brought home, throw cold water all over it.

In order to open the pores of the tree for drawing up water, you should cut off the butt end about an inch slantwise. Set the freshly cut end in cold water and keep the tree in a cool shady place until you're ready to bring it indoors for decorating.

Give your tree water daily, because a five or six foot tree can drink as much as a cup a day. Every little green needle of the tree gives off moisture during the day. The more moisture it gives off the greater will be the fragrance of your tree.

The tree that is kept away from heat-giving items such as radiators and light bulbs will be more likely to keep its forest freshness.

The American Way

BY GEORGE PECK

(EDITOR'S NOTE: George Peck is President of the Laymen's National Committee, sponsor of National Sunday School and Bible Weeks.)

The socialized electric power proponents have read into what happened last November 4 that the American tapayer is clamoring for more and more "government-in-business," with public power development projects leading the parade. As a result of this interpretation of the election results, we can now look for a deluge at Washington of DAM proposals which both in size and number will be the biggest DAM proposals to date.

But in our humble opinion, we believe the socialized power zealots are misinterpreting the feeling of the aaverage taxpayer toward government production and sale of electric energy. Despite the flood of propaganda on behalf of socialized electric power which has flowed from TVA and other similar socialized government agencies; despite the false charges that have been made against the investor-owned, business-managed, taxpaying utility companies, the American public slowly but surely has been learning that there is nothing "cheap" about public power.

As a case in point, while the Democrat Party was sweeping the nation on Tuesday, November 4, voters in the State of Oregon were presented with three proposals which involved the development of government-financed electric power projects. They said "NO" on all three.

One proposal that the Oregon voters rejected was an amendment to the State Constitution authorizing the State to engage in the development and sale of electric power. The amendment covered the waterfront — it would have authorized the State to generate power by hydro, steam or nuclear development.

The voters of the City of Portland registered their dislike of public power—they turned down a proposal for a $5 million hydro-electric bond issue to install generators at the city's water supply source.

The City of Springfield, Ore., voted "NO" on a proposal to take over the distribution properties of the investor-owned Pacific Power and Light Company within that city. The city system has been competing with that company. Pacific P & L states that it is now prepared to make an offer to purchase the city system.

Over the nation as a whole there has been a gradual awakening of the American public to the fallacy of putting Federal, State or local governments into the power business. PUBLIC SERVICE, a most useful monthly magazine published at St. Paul, Minnesota, has made a study which reveals that "you can fool all of the people some of the time, and some of the people all of the time, but you can't fool all of the people all of the time."

For instance, during the period 1933-1939, a total of 849 cities and towns balloted on proposals to acquire municipally-owned electric systems. In 51.5 percent of these communities the voters said "YES."

Then from January 1, 1940 to June 30, 1950, 81.2 percent of the communities said "NO" to municipal ownership proposals.

The November, 1958 issue of PUBLIC SERVICE carries a table of domestic rates charged by investor-owned companies from 1882 to 1957. These figures graphically illustrate what a terrific job the investor-owned companies have done in providing electricity for the residential customer at ever-decreasing rates. In 1882, the rate was 25 cents per KWH—in 1957, 2.56 cents. While the electric industry was making this remarkable performance the cost of living index advanced from 86 in 1882 to 284.2 in 1957.

The magazine also points out that the investor-owned electric industry is one of the largest and most dependable of all tax-payers. Far more important, Socialism—whether of electric power or anything else—is the implacable enemy of free, representative government and free people. The chaotic modern world has proven that beyond the shadow of a doubt."

May we repeat, in concluding this article, we believe the socialized power zealots are due for a rude, disappointing shock when they come forth with their Biggest Dam Proposals.

Children's Bible Story

By S. A. KAPLAN
Assisted by Mrs. Kaplan

THE RED SEA EXPERIENCE
(This story is based on Exodus 13-15.)

HELLO BOYS AND GIRLS! Have you ever wondered why it is that you find yourself at times surrounded by so many obstacles and difficulties when you have tried your very best to do that which is right? Today's story will explain why God sometimes permits these experiences to come to you.

The children of Israel, as you know, had been delivered from the Egyptian bondage by the mighty power of God, and the vast host of them, a million or more, marched triumphantly toward the Land of Promise. "And the Lord went before them by day in a pillar of a cloud to lead them the way; and by night in a pillar of fire, to give them light."

In the meantime, the Egyptians were sorry that they let the Israelites go free, and so "they pursued after them," with all the horses and chariots of Pharaoh, and his horsemen, and his army." And what do you suppose? "They overtook them" as they (the Israelites) encamped by the sea." You can just imagine how terrified the children of Israel were when they saw that mighty host with their flashing armor. There they were, wedged in between the Red Sea in front of them, a mountain on the south, and their enemies behind them. While some of the Israelites called upon God, the greater part of them lost their faith, and with it their courage, and they began to murmur and to complain, and blamed Moses for all their troubles.

Suddenly as night approached, something wonderful happened! The pillar of cloud that went before them rose majestically above them and descended behind them. To the Egyptians it was like a dark curtain, while on the side of the Israelites it shed a radiant light on all the encampment. Then God said to Moses: Lift thou up thy rod, and stretch out thine hand over the sea, and divide it: and the children of Israel shall go on dry ground through the midst of the sea." And God caused a strong east wind to blow all that night to make the sea bed dry. Try to imagine yourself among that vast assembly of the Israelites. Don't you think it took a lot of faith for Moses to believe and to obey God's instruction? Well, he did as God had commanded him, and we read that the Red Sea parted in two, with the roaring, hissing waves piled up like "a wall" on either side of the Israelites. What a spectacle that must have been!

The Egyptians followed after them into the midst of the sea, but God "troubled the host of the Egyptians, and took off their chariot wheels so that the Egyptians said, Let us flee from the face of Israel; for the Lord fighteth for them against the Egyptians. And the Lord said unto Moses, Stretch out thine hand over the sea . . . and the waters returned and covered . . . all the host of Pharaoh."

Their gratitude to God for this mighty deliverance found expression in a song of triumphant joy and thanksgiving, spoken of in the Bible as "the song of Moses."

And so, boys and girls, when you are passing through a Red Sea experience, remember that what God did for the Israelites He is fully able and willing to do for you as you call upon Him to help you.

The American Way

By MAURICE R. FRANKS

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Maurice R. Franks is President of the National Labor-Management Foundation and Editor of its official publication, PARTNERS.)

Another Election Day has come and gone. The American people have gone to the polls and selected from the candidates offered us for choice, the officials who now for a time will serve us at various levels of government. The chosen will be pleasing to some of us, displeasing to others. Some, as their incumbency develops, will justify our elective faith in them. Some may even exceed our expectations in the quality of their service. Others may disappoint and fail utterly in office—depending on what we expect of them and on how well they understand our expectations.

Such is the strength—and the weakness—of our popular form of government, than which no better form has yet been devised by man.

Of utmost importance to all of us, as a nation whose overall interests are common and indivisible, is the fact that a new Congress—the 86th—comprised of old and tested elements and of elements new to their job, has been selected and will convene in January. In all corners of the land, where attitudes and approach to basic issues have differed, our citizens have declared themselves. Their majorities have put the new Congress together, have contributed to the composite of the new legislative mind which, come January, will take up the work of reviewing old laws, of shaping new statutes in response to national need and of protecting our country's overall interests at home and abroad.

This fact is, indeed, of immense importance to all of us.

Of far greater significance than the results of individual congressional and senatorial races, is the fact that the country itself remains—and that the duties of the new Congress are precisely the same duties by which all former Congresses—all 85 of them—were bound. Those duties are all wrapped up in a single package, as sacred and indivisible as the oath of office each new Senator and Representative will take. Let each new lawmaker—and each one of us—regard that basic obligation and consider it well.

That obligation is to preserve and serve the interests of the American people as a whole. Our majorities and our minorities. And the majorities and minorities contained within each.

Let it be remembered and carried well in mind that no majority or minority anywhere is a solid, completely definable thing in itself. Neither the one nor the other is, or ever can be, more than passingly stable. For the numbers that dance and align themselves at election time are not of stones but of people, of dynamic and complex human minds whose recorded votes may represent an intelligent compromise as well as hard-core prejudice or the sway of group psychology. The majority, however impressive, that sweeps a man into office may define a sober trend or it may reflect but a popular fancy. At best, it expresses but one of two or more equally faithful responses to the variables of time and circumstance in the flowing life of our nation.

This is a fact that every elected official—and particularly every new Senator and Congressman—should perpetually bear in mind as his opportunity for service unfolds. And today, even as the returns are still warm and political analysts are still busy mulling over them, one thing should never be lost sight of: In the final analysis, no one group anywhere really elected anybody.

Why? Because no single group anywhere is large enough. Not business, big or small. Not labor—organized, unorganized or disorganized. No group is definitely commanded by anyone—not by organized management, not by organized labor leadership. Not by the AFL-CIO, the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, the NAM, the American Medical Association or the American Automobile Association. Even in a conspicously agricultural community, it could hardly be said that the winning candidate was elected exclusively by farmers. Also, there must have been plenty of "farm votes" cast for the loser too!

No one group ever elects—it only helps to elect.

This means that, though it may strive to anoint itself with victory and impose an election debt on the winner, no single group ever can assert a just claim to political indebtedness. The majority vote was cast by Americans, in secret, as individuals and in varying response to conscience. The only political debt that remains, after the election paraphernalia is dismantled and stored away for another year, is to the American electorate, to the people who comprise their own and the total community.

Preston Countians Regional Winners In FFBL Program

Preston Countians were the regional champions in region II of the Farming for Better Living five-county area, it was announced at a round-up luncheon in Morgantown. They were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wolfe, of Masontown. Regional winners last year were Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Baker, of Loch Lynn Heights.

The new champions together with a brother, Willard Wolfe, operate dairy and beef herds on their 419 acre family farm.

Dean Roy M. Kottman, College of Agriculture, West Virginia university, gave the principal address at the luncheon. Present were current and past year FFBL county winners and members of the FFBL councils from Marion, Monongalia, Preston, Taylor and Garrett counties. Mr. and Mrs. Gerald H. Glotfelty, 1958 county winners, were among those attending the luncheon.

Intelligent farm management and the utilization of mechanical helpers have brought an excellent living through farming to the Wolfe family, members of the FFBL council stated. They have concentrated on high production from their animals, their croplands and their machinery.

Their thirty-eight cow Holstein dairy herd produced an average of 11,000 pounds of milk per cow last year. Hay production was 287 tons, with 900 bushels of barley, 120 bushels of wheat and 195 bushels of oats being grown on the farm. Four silos were filled and refilled. In addition to the dairy herd the Wolfes have a thirty-two cow Hereford beef herd. A laying flock of 250 Leghorn hens adds to the family income.

Large machinery on the Wolfe farm includes a hay baler, field forage harvester, feed mill, feed mixer, bale shredder, silage blower, tractors, hay conditioner, forage wagons and all kinds of harvesting and cultivating equipment. A barn hay curing system is used to improve the hay quality. It is moved to a second barn as the one is filled. The Wolfes have a modern farm shop in which they keep their machinery in top condition.

Scouts Distribute Thirty-five Bundles

Girl Scout Troop 3 began work last week on a community service project called "Little Sister", it was announced by Mrs. Robert B. Wooters, leader. At the suggestion of Mrs. Benson W. Unger, each troop member was asked to bring outgrown clothing, games, and toys to the meeting on December 10. The girls and their leaders sorted the clothing and packaged it. They were able to place a complete outfit for a younger child in many of the parcels. Tags, made from construction paper and old Christmas cards, were attached and a total of 35 bundles were distributed to needy children through the Center Street and Dennett Road schools. Mrs. Dayton Alexander, troop committee chairman, and Mrs. W. K. Glotfelty assisted the group. Mrs. Wooters stated that Troop 3 intends to repeat its "Little Sister" project at other intervals throughout the year, and that it is hoped they will be able to include clothing for "Little Brother."

Three new girls were invested in a candlelight ceremony on December 10, bringing the troop's present registration to 25. The new members are Shirley Bernard, Suzanne Faulkner, and Margaret Reckart. A Christmas party was scheduled for December 17, featuring caroling and an exchange of gifts. Refreshments were served by the troop committee.

Troop 3 is sponsored by the Junior Woman's Civic club of Oakland.

Teen Corner

By DICK CASTILOW

Teen Club was a little bit dead until the basketball game was over, but then things really started to cook. Everyone had a Ball. Well, the third Friday is this week, so Bob Brinker will be up from WCUM with all his records and his good disposition.

Bob has really so far, been able to draw the crowds. He always tries to have the top tunes and he usually has a few that are bound to be big. So drop around and catch an earful, we'll be expecting you.

As far as I know, there will be a Christmas formal at the Teen Club the twenty-sixth of December.

By the way, when we say Christmas formal, it should really be Christmas semi-formal. Formal means that the guys wear white dinner jackets or tuxedoes, and the gals of course wear gowns. But on the other hand, semi-formal means that the fellows wear suits and the girls gowns, or, in the case of the younger teens, who would not as yet have gowns, may wear party dresses. I had caused quite a mix up on this among the older girls at Southern concerning the Winter Wonderland dance to be held the twentieth in the gym.

With Christmas but a week away, I think that it is time that a thought be taken to the true meaning of the Yule season. The first thing that is thought of usually is gifts. I hope that this one is the best ever. Join the "Keep Christ in Christmas" campaign.

The top tunes this week as compiled by Billboard are as follows: Tom Dooley, To Know Him is to Love Him, It's Only Make Believe.

Look at the teen page in the Cumberland Times, you will see something familiar this Sunday.

An ice jam trapped fourteen ships between Montreal and Sorel in Canada.

The Sandman Came First

She thought she'd wait up for Santa. The sandman came first.

But she'll have no regrets when she wakes up tomorrow. Christmas is so wonderful, it doesn't really matter whether you heard the reindeer's hoofs on the roof or saw the jolly old elf open his pack.

Like the heart of Christmas, it's not important that we weren't at Bethlehem . . . we didn't see the star . . . we didn't kneel at the manger. We can even erase the years when Christmas has found us tangled in tinsel and asleep to God.

For Christ is born! The hopes and fears of all the years have melted into one eternal Truth.

A gift is ours when we awake to discover it, reach for it, cling to it.

The Christ men worship in their churches and homes is God's gift to you and me.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Joy

Lesson for December 21, 1958

A MAGAZINE which advertises expensive things — cufflinks for $100 and over, cute little earrings for $500, mens shirts for $15 each—carried once a full-page advertisement with exactly eight words besides the manufacturer's name. It read: "JOY—the most costly perfume in the world."

Dr. Foreman

As an ad for perfume, that was obviously silly. It would appeal only to the kind of person who does not ask, "How good is this?" but "how expensive is it?" You do not raise the quality of your merchandise merely by raising the price.

Nevertheless, as a parable, or a starting-point for meditation, that is worth several minutes' serious thought.

Joy Is Life's Perfume

Perfumery is at the same time one of the most useless and yet most popular things sold. How many thousand gallons of it, will be sold for Christmas presents no one knows. And yet what good is it? A very practical-minded character might ask. All it does is to smell good. Ah, but that is just the point. Let the reader think back over the happiest moments of his or her life. Isn't it true that some sort of fragrance pervades each happy memory? The mint in Grandmother's back yard, the turkey at Tranksgiving, the smell of the Christmas tree, and the spring lilacs, and the perfume she wore the night she said "Yes." An odorless world would be a dull world. It's the pervasive and haunting fragrance of life that lift it out of the commonplace.

So with joy. Unlike perfume, it has no market value; but like perfume, its usefulness is mainly indirect. As there are cheap and vulgar perfumes, so there are cheap and vulgar joys. But there are rare and exquisite joys too. The same situation, the same relationship, the same duty, the "same old story" can be for one person a drudgery and for another a delight, because one person lacks the joy the other has. Just as literal odors make past moments memorable, so joy makes life's best moments memorable.

Fragrance of Christmas

Christmas is a time of joyous fragrances; but if they are all for the body and none for the soul, we have missed the true fragrance of Christmas. There is a word in the Greek New Testament which, the first time it is used (John 12:3) means literally fragrance — the odor of the precious ointment which Mary poured on Jesus. Four other times it is used figuratively in speaking of the "fragrance" of the Christian life. This and another word (II Cor. 2:15, Eph. 5:2, Phil. 4:18) suggest that the Christian life is more than correct, it is lovely. Beauty is inwoven with Christianity. The perfume of joy comes to us in the song of the angels, in the song of Mary, in the adoration of the shepherds. Wherever Christ has come, it is as if sour and horrible odors had been replaced by frangrances from beside the River of Life. What are the high days the church celebrates? They are called, and they are, "feasts" or festivals. Christmas and Easter are seasons of joy; not reckless devil-may-care pleasure, which is quite another thing, but joy that links earth to heaven.

Good News of a Great Joy

How stupid and twisted some definitions of religion seem, in the light of the Christmas story! You may detect at least some of the counterfeits passing for Christianity by this, that they are joyless, they are without fragrance. An enemy of Christianity once defined religion as a sum of scruples—in other words, a mess of Don't's." A would-be friend of Christianity defined this religion as "God's attack on man." We should take our cue from the joyous angels, not from such gloomy scholars. Did the angels sing, "You'd better be afraid —we have a whole new list of Dont's!" Did the First Angel shout in a voice of doom: "I come to announce God's attack on man!"—? Christmas is the word of freedom to men in prison, Christmas is the word of joy to a world in sorrow, the coming of a Rescuer to a world that was lost.

Thayer Discusses Forestry Conditions

A recent meeting of the Garrett County Rural Development Steering Committee centered around a discussion of the forestry situation in the County led by Tom Thayer, Assistant District Forester.

The Timber Resource Review, recently completed for Maryland, reports that in this state, we are growing hardwoods faster than they are being cut. Most of this surplus, however, is growing on defective and undesirable trees.

In Garrett County, with 75% of the area covered by wood land, much of the forest capital has been depleted. Thayer maintained this depletion has resulted from severe cutting over for mine posts, fire, and the removal of only the choicest trees from the woods. According to Thayer, all that can be done with this woodland for a long period of time is occasionally thin it lightly to remove inferior trees and protect it from fire.

It is difficult to encourage the small land owner to protect his woods when he can not make it a paying proposition. In Garrett County, there are two outlets for small, low-grade products such as should be removed from the woods to improve composition and speed growth on remaining trees. The delivered price for pulpwood is approximately $15.00 per cord. Wood purchased for charcoal production is selling at about $8.00 per cord. Two skilled men can put a $50.00 load of wood on the road in about seven hours. Total cost of cutting and hauling that load including labor amounts to nearly $45.00. To try to offset this narrow margin of profit, the woodland owner is forced to cut as much as he can off every acre.

"If we are to use these market outlets as tools of forest management instead of weapons of destruction, we must have cooperation from industry in the form of higher product prices and an improved landowner attitude," Thayer said. "If we can accomplish this, we will be rewarded with quality saw timber commanding a higher stumpage price and possibly a large wood-using concern to further bolster our economy."

In contrast to hardwood, which is growing faster than it is being cut, the Timber Resource Review states that pine in Maryland is being cut twice as fast as it is grown. The reason for the expanded reforestation program is based on the fact that we are falling short in pine production. In spite of the fact that a billion trees were planted in the county last year, economists tell us that we will have to plant 15 times this amount annually if we are to meet the needs of the year 2000.

Hand in hand with the reforestation program in this area is the production of Christmas trees. Thayer stated that the Christmas tree industry could go a long way toward helping the winter economic problems of Garrett County. "We are ideally situated in relation to the large markets of Baltimore, Washington, Pittsburgh, and Cleveland. Because of our altitude and climate, we can raise a greater variety of species in demand for Christmas use."

In addition to the landowner receiving a substantial return for his labor, the person trucking the trees, harvesting them, or making secondary products such as roping or wreaths can expect to profit as well.

Thayer remined the group that Christmas trees are not a "get-rich-quick" crop neither. A lot of work is required to bring a quality crop to harvest, but the return is good for quality producers.

Thayer suggested five ways in which the Steering Committee might help landowners increase the cash returns from their woodlands:

1. Urge friends and neighbors by personal contact to take advantage of and be guided by, the services available to them.

2. Encourage industry to increase the prices it pays so that the man furnishing forest products to them can have enought to improve his lot and rise above a day-to-day existence.

3. Encourage, through any media available, the production of quality Christmas trees on idle county lands.

If Today Were Your Last

Sometime ago a question was posed in a Mid-West Paper. The question: "What would you do with your day, if you knew it was the last one for you on this earth?" The Now magazine reports that there were three answers to the question. One woman said she would hurry to the Eye Bank and donate her good eyes for a blind person to see again. A family man in his thirties, who prided himself on being a model husband and a good father, said he would try to crowd all the adventures he could into that day and make up for the years he had been tied down! A third said that he would take care of all legal matters for the welfare of those who were left behind. But above all else, he said, "I would see that my heart was right with God." He added in brackets, (But personally, I'm glad I know Christ as my personal Saviour now. I'd hate to wait for that until the last day). Then I would repeat to my family from the Scriptures, 'It is appointed unto man once to die, but after this the judgment,' so they too would know a peaceful way of heart. Surely it is advisable to settle the matter of your soul's destiny today.

Letter to the Editor

Sir:

In reference to your request for views in your editorial "The Open Forum" and in regards to "Legislators get views of public on local needs."

I agree with you that our legislators be informed about the required needs of our county.

I am sorry that circumstances prevented my attending that meeting.

1. On the bonus question I have nothing to say as I was not a resident of this State at the time involved, even though I am a veteran.

2. Coal Stripping: I agree that the present law is inadequate. We the tax payers must stand the added cost of the highway maintenance.

3. I very heartily agree that the minority party should be represented in both The House of Delegates and our Commissioners office.

In this way at least one party can keep us informed as to what is being done or accomplished by the administration in office, which has not been done in some instances in the past.

4. About the McHenry Garbage Disposal I disagree. There is a garbage collection there that the cottage owners pay for. We are trying to promote a resort at the lake and therefore would not want a garbage dump or disposal any place close to the entire lake area.

5. The Sanitary District is a problem for the City of Oakland. (No Comment.)

6. Carry Over Commissioners I do believe a good plan for our county, provided that they were capable and worthy of it. The plan is good.

7. Limit on County Road equipment seems that instead of such enormous expenditures of funds on second hand equipment, we would do better to buy new machines and follow the Military Transportation plan of maintenance and save the county money.

8. The States Attorney's Salary and The Public Welfare should be looked into. The Attorney should have a salary that would enable him to have the time, etc. to look into the work necessary.

The welfare request seems to be rather high in relation to a population of 20,000 people in this County, as published in your paper a few weeks back.

9. Women have every right to serve on juries the same as to vote. We might learn something by so doing.

10. Blood Tests should be compelled by law to safeguard the health and welfare of the future generation of this county.

Check the marriage licenses issued here and ask: Why come to this county instead of getting one at their own home.

It is my understanding that a health certificate is necessary for all food handlers, etc. and that comprises a blood test when examined. It should be enforced by the Health Dept. via an inspection with No Exceptions.

11. Legalized Liquor. I believe that legalizing the sale of liquor in this county would increase the revenue in taxes.

In so far as our own people are concerned there would be no increase in the sale over what is now being sold illegally with no tax income from it.

We try to promote a Summer Vacation Paradise without the adequate means to do so.

There is no way possible to promotion that would make a resort of our lake area without legal liquor and the necessary places to dispense it. Hotels to house our guests, Night clubs for their entertainment and other places of entertainment and recreation.

But so long as our people fight legalized liquor we shall remain stagnated and our children will still leave the same as in the past.

To top it all no investor would put up that kind of money in a Prohibition Area. It was a dismal failure nationally. Why fight it in our county, we have it all around us.

12. Industry and Payroll in Garrett County, goes along with the Future of Garrett County. There are certain restrictions that prevent obtaining adequate industry interested in locating in this area that would do us any good financially. (Fire Protection, Transportation facilities, etc.)

But we have at our disposal one of the greatest assets one could ever ask for that would provide more employment than there are workers in the county if utilized and properly developed, our summer resort.

13. Information Service rendered by our public office holders is not to the best interests of our county.

Why must our people have to resort to the Cumberland Press and the outside means to obtain information about the doings in our county instead of reading about it in our own paper first as has been the case in several instances.

14. It is hereby requested that the law be changed or new ones enacted to require that any and all future candidates for public office of any kind have an adequate education before entering the primary Ballot.

Minimum education suggested is High School Graduate and better for the higher offices.

It is my opinion that the foregoing recommendations would provide a better means of life in our county and means of keeping our school children in the county after graduation in the future.

THE FUTURE OF GARRETT COUNTY DEPENDS ON IT

We want our children here at home and a future in the county but we have nothing to offer them.

Where do they go when they graduate from our Schools? ? ?

Right out in the middle of legalized liquor and for a future that we are denying them here.

Lets Do Something About It.!

Additional Deer Kills Set Record

Additional deer kills which occurred in Garrett county were reported to state game officials during the past week and a new record of 710 deer kills for the county has been established this year. The official figures were released by Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden.

The previous high for the county for a six-day gunning season was 698. This year 701 white-tails were slain during the regular firearms season and nine were killed by archers during the special season. This was the first year for bow and arrow hunting in Garrett county.

Allegany county was runner-up in total kills with 596 but failed to reach the all-time mark of 623. Gunners bagged 587 bucks while bowmen killed nine.

Washington county's total of 333 also was a new record and bettered the previous mark of 289. Gunners accounted for 320 and archers brought down 13.

A total of 3,604 deer were reported killed in 19 counties this year but this figure does not include Aberdeen Proving Grounds.

The kill in region No. 1 which totaled 1,639 is 45 percent of the state total to date.

Gunners bagged 3,132 while bowmen killed 166. Harford county had the most kills by bow and arrow hunters, a total of 44. Frederick and Worcester counties were tied for second place with 24 each.

Trial Held Monday Before Judge Fraley

A former Cumberland resident was tried in the Garrett County Circuit court in Oakland Monday on a charge of receiving stolen goods—his admitted share of a Cumberland safecracking job which he confessed to "fingering."

W. Ewald Ruehl, formerly of LaVale, now a resident of Baltimore county, was indicted by the September Grand jury of Garrett county. Ruehl was represented by William A. Gunter.

State's Attorney S. R. Pagenhardt said Ruehl was charged with receiving $1,500 as his share of the safe-cracking and burglary of a total of $17,500 from the home of Lee A. Green in LaVale in October, 1949.

The details of Ruehl's part in the conspiracy came to light April 24, 1957, in a decision handed down in Baltimore county Circuit court. Green had sued Ruehl in that court in an equity suit to regain the $1,500 share Ruehl said he received.

Judge John E. Raines, Jr., on April 25, 1957, issued a lengthy opinion in which figured Ruehl's confession given Allegany county authorities. Judge Raines returned a verdict in favor of Green.

Judge Raines, who said the case had all the elements of a Mickey Spillane novel, noted that Ruehl's confession had told how he had allowed a man named Paul and two other men, one apparently a safecracker with a 50-year record, to occupy his cabin at Deep Creek Lake.

Judge Raines noted that Ruehl admitted knowing of the burglary of Green's home. Green is the husband of Ruehl's divorced wife, and after the safecracking Ruehl said he found $1,500 in $100 bills in a jar in the cabin.

Several years passed until 1956 when the FBI picked up Harold Paul Odum and James Golden in connection with the safecracking. But Allegany county authorities were forced to set them free after stating there was insufficient evidence to charge them.

At the conclusion of the testimony on Monday, Judge Fraley asked each side to submit briefs and that court would reconvene on December 31 to hear arguments in the case.

Ruehl's fate apparently hangs on the question of whether a statement or confession can be admitted as evidence in Maryland without any corroborative testimony.

Ruehl made three statements in the presence of Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police. While Baker was on the witness stand Judge Fraley ruled that testimony in a civil suit in Baltimore county could not be admitted as evidence in a criminal trial.

Pagenhadt was upheld in his rebuttal which pointed out that although the act was a misdemeanor there is no limitation when the amount of money involved exceeds $100 and carries a prison term.

Green, 59, now resides with a son-in-law in Grantsville.

Extension Agents File 1958 Report

Dairy, poultry and livestock development are furnishing the challenge in agriculture in Garrett county, according to the annual report of the Extension service.

Dairying was termed the outstanding enterprise but that the farmers would have to progress with the times to have it remain a profitable enterprise. Broiler expansion was considered questionable by the extension workers but it was indicated that egg production was on the increase in the northern section of the county. It was their opinion the future would depend on the production and marketing of quality eggs.

Interest in educational programs by newly formed beef association was considered high but there was a cautious note in this area. The extension workers declared "Tetany" was going to give the farmers trouble in 1959. If the answer to the problem could not be found it was almost certain that beef production would drop sharply.

These remarks and many others were included in the annual report which is submitted annually to the Extension service, University of Maryland, and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Contributing in the report were John H. Carter, county agent, who retired March 1; James A. McHenry, who was associate agent until March 1 and who then took over as agent; E. Rankin Lusby, assistant county agent; and A. Barry Carr, assistant county agent who was added to the staff June 9.

Some of the other statements made which would be of interest to the public include the following:

Agricultural enterprises consist chiefly of dairy, first; poultry, second; and livestock, third. The majority of the farms are diversified with two or more enterprises. Dairying is continuing to expand in individual farms by increasing size of herd.

Climatic conditions, scenic areas, and state-owned land developments afford splendid opporunity for tourist trade expansion. Garrett has come a long way in the past five years in attracting tourists for deer season, summer on Deep Creek Lake, and winter sports.

Beef producers made more progress during the year than any other enterprise. They have shown particular interest in a Baby Beef show.

The report is a complete one on all the activities of the department and is available for inspection by interested persons.

Statistically it was shown that 1,034 farm or home visits were made with 963 office calls, 1,585 telephone calls, 4,521 bulletins distributed.

Twenty training meetings were held for local leaders with 112 in attendance, four training meetings were held for 4-H club work with 161 in attendance; Two hundred sixteen other meetings were held with attendance of 4,570, and 115 4-H club meetings held with attendance of 3,175.

Woman Is Hurt In Crossing Mishap

A 61-year-old Mt. Lake Park woman was injured Sunday afternoon when the car in which she was riding was struck by a Baltimore and Ohio engine at the Mt. Lake-Loch Lynn crossing.

Admitted to the Garrett County Memorial hospital was Mrs. Anna Laura Tressler. She sustained abrasions about the body and was listed in "fair" condition.

Corporal Samuel Conrad of the State police, said the accident occurred at 4:40 p. m. when a car driven by Sherman P. Tressler 64, Mt. Lake Park, husband of the injured woman, was struck by a two-unit diesel. Mrs. Tressler was thrown from the car.

Corporal Conrad said the Tressler vehicle was northbound on Maryland route 560.

The two-unit diesel was westbound and was being operated by Daniel E. Rumer, 59, of Keyser, and J. T. Definbaugh, 44, also of Keyser.

Tressler informed police he had stopped for an eastbound train and started across the tracks after it had passed, not realizing a westbound train was approaching. As he reached the center of the tracks his car was struck in the rear by the westbound diesel, police said.

Highlanders Take Overtime Tilt 58-54

Field goals by Don Stemple and Ron Colaw in an overtime period gave Southern High's Highlanders a 58-54 victory over Petersburg High's Vikings at Petersburg last Friday night.

Ernie Nelson tapped in the goal that knotted the score at 54-all, thirty seconds before the regulation game ended.

The score was tied at 14-all at the end of the first period but after that Southern remained in the lead most of the way until the final gun. The Highlanders had a 31-26 advantage at the half and a 40-37 lead at the end of the third period.

Terry Colaw and Leo Martin with 16 and 15 points, led Southern's scoring while Bill Taylor, Ernie Nelson, Billy Reynolds and Koontz accounted for 48 Petersburg markers.

Harland Carlson, who was out with an ankle injury against Valley, was back in the lineup, and Jerry Wine got his first chance of the season. He had been sidelined with a broken ankle in a practice session before the season started. Wine scored two field goals for four points. Stemple scored 6, Ron Colaw 10, Stuck 6 and James 1 to complete the scoring for Southern. The Highlanders outscored Petersburg from the field 27 to 21 but only scored four out of 21 fouls. Petersburg on the other hand scored 12 out of 24 foul attempts.

Southern's next game will be with the alumni on Tuesday evening, December 30.

Winter Officially Arrives On Monday

Winter officially began at 3:40 a. m., EST, on Monday, December 22, but nobody in this area had to be told that winter was at hand.

The U. S. Naval observatory which officially keeps tab on such matters, released the information. Some confusion over the actual start of winter developed. One almanac listed December 21, 3:40 a. m., as the starting. A weather bureau booklet inadvertently had listed the time as 3:40 p. m. Monday. A bureau spokesman said, however, that was in error. A check with the Naval observatory confirmed that winter arrived here Monday morning.

Frigid temperatures were recorded in wide areas of the nation ranging from below zero in northern New England to freezing as far south as the Carolinas and northern Louisiana. At International Falls, Minn., it was 33 degrees below zero.

There were from three to four inches of snow in Garrett county which fell Saturday and Sunday.

Presents Flag To Scouts

A Maryland flag which flew over the state house at Annapolis on December 12, was presented to the Oakland Boy Scout troop at the regular meeting last Thursday night.

The flag presentation was made by Lowell Loomis who was designated to present the gift by Governor Theodore R. McKeldin.

The army announced plans to close three forts by next summer.

Ton of Good Will

The Protestant churches of this area, during this holiday season brought over a ton, exactly 2,055 pounds, of clothing for world relief to the Oak Park Church of the Brethren, where it was picked up by the World Service Center truck and taken to New Windsor for processing.

There will be another collection of used clothing on March 2nd, it was announced by the Rev. Edward G. Wenger, pastor of the church.

Decision in Unique Case Deferred By Morgantown Judge

Judge Don J. Eddy, Morgantown, W. Va., has taken into abeyance a decision in a unique chancery case involving the estate of Nick Gerendakis, of Osage, W. Va., and Mrs. Bess Cuppett, operator of the Cuppett Nursing Home in Oakland.

Mrs. Cuppett is attempting to establish the amount of $7,837.72 was given to her by the deceased as a "gift cause mortis" (gift in contemplation of death.)

The defense, four heirs from Greece, via the Greek Embassy, claim there was no gift as a matter of law and that Gerendakis was not of sound mind when he presented Mrs. Cuppett with the checking account and savings account books. Attorneys Mike Magro, Jr., and S. J. Angotti are representing the heirs while Jesse Jaco, Morgantown, and W. W. Dawson, Oakland attorney, are counsel for Mrs. Cuppett.

Testimony in the case was completed during the past week.

Gerendakis, a naturalized American of Greek descent, resided in Osage for many years. He became ill early in 1955 and was in a hospital at Morgantown between February, 1956, and May 9, 1956. At the advice of his doctor, Gerendakis was then transferred to the Cuppett Nursing home in Oakland where he remained until his death August 25, 1956.

Five days before he died, testimony disclosed, the deceased gave his deposit books (one of $2,566.92, and one of $5,270.80 from the First National Bank of Morgantown) to a nurse at the home. Mrs. Cuppett testified, along with the nurse, that Gerendakis instructed the nurse to give the books to Mrs. Cuppett.

The two sisters and two nephews in Greece later contacted the Greek Embassy on the matter. The first Secretary and Consul of the embassy made claim in behalf of the relatives.

Nick Sarvis, of the Royal Greek Embassy, testified that Gerendakis was incompetent at the time he gave the money to Mrs. Cuppett.

Dr. Herman Rich, Gerendakis' physician in Morgantown, testified the deceased's mental and physical health was too incompetent at the time he was transferred to the nursing home for him to transact business.

Gerendakis died following a massive cerebral hemorrhage suffered August 20, 1956, the day he was reported to have given the deposit books to Mrs. Cuppett.

Northern Accepts Periodicals Project

Northern High school is participating in a periodicals project offered by the American Association of School Librarians.

The association provides for a number of selected periodicals to be placed in the high school for the purpose of making a study of the impact of the periodicals in an educational program. The school will receive either $75 or $100 worth of periodicals for one year.

The project was accepted by the senior high school English, social studies teachers, the principal, guidance director and librarian.

The periodicals selected from the approved list included American Heritage, Americas, Atlantic Monthly, Christian Science Monitor, Current History, Foreign Policy Bulletin and Headline Series, Harpers magazine, New Republic, Saturday Review, U. S. News and World Report, and USSR Illustrated, amounting to an outlay of $74.35. Some of the periodicals are already being received, according to Melvin E. Kesner, librarian.

The periodicals selected are calculated to give students a thoughtful presentation of public affairs and various and contrasting cultures, to provide a means of reaching gifted students who need stimulus in a leadership program, and to make available to schools quality publications to which they might not ordinarily subscribe.

A report will be made to the association later to ascertain the effect of the project upon the students, to evaluate the choices of periodicals selected and to determine whether it is desirable to continue the project for another year. Month-Worldtratedr d.Eb b

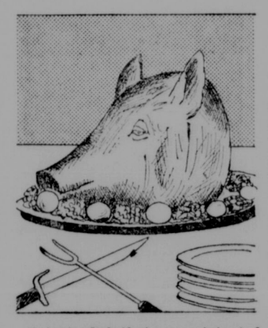
Christmas is the time

For Sumptuous Meals Everywhere In World

SUMPTUOUS meals to celebrate Christmas, along with merrymaking and the gathering of friends and relatives, is traditional in every country that celebrates the holiday.

The main dishes, of course, vary from country to country, but tradition remains and some of the dishes have not changed for hundreds of years—except to taste better as we get older.

Serving a boar's head was an old English custom. It was brought into the banquet hall on a large platter accompanied by trumpet flourishes. It has been replaced today by stuffed turkey and a wide assortment of pies, topped off with plum pudding covered with flaming sauce. All of it a banquet fit for a king.



A tasty dish that was originated by the Puritans and is very American, is the mince meat pie. Originally this dish was served with a tiny figure of the Christ child in the center.

The earliest known recipe dates from the early 17th century. It calls for beef tongue, chopped chicken eggs, raisins, orange, lemon peelings, sugar and various spices.

Rice pudding is the traditional opener for a Norwegian Christmas feast, followed by the Christmas pig whose growth has been watched carefully throughout the year.

Sometimes as many as fourteen different kinds of cake are served in Norwegian homes.

The Christmas feast in Sweden always features a large selection of buns, cakes and loaves, of all shapes and colors.

The Danes center their feast around a plump Christmas goose, served with hot cabbage and sugar-browned potatoes and stuffed with apples and prunes.

The French also serve the traditional goose at their Christmas feast, along with buckwheat cakes with sour cream, roasted chestnuts with milk or wine, and all types of cakes and candies with which to end the meal.

The Swiss feature a pear cake called the "Birewegge" which resembles a shiny loaf of bread. It contains a spicy, flavorful concentrate from air dried pears mixed with raisins.

Here in America the Christmas turkey is the most popular dish, served with a variety of vegetables. Followed, of course, with a variety of pies and cakes—most often the fruit cake.

Because of mixture of traditions and beliefs in the United States the Christmas feast varies more than in other countries.

Christmas Outlawed

The Puritan government of England outlawed Christmas in 1643. Christmas customs and traditions were revived with the restoration of the Stuarts, but the holidays never regained its former prestige in England.

A pre-school child enjoys toys he can put together or build. Blocks are an all-time favorite.

South America Is Adopting Many Of Our Yule Customs

North American customs for the celebration of Christmas are becoming more popular in Latin American countries. Our southern friends, however, have many holiday traditions we could well adopt.

In Mexico, for instance, during the nine days before Christmas, candlelight processions are formed nightly. They are called Posadas.

This ritual reenacts the Holy Family's journey to Bethlehem and its difficulty in finding a place to stay.

It is arranged for the marchers to be refused entrance at a home, then admitted with rejoicing and great festivities.

Also, Mexico has a tradition called breaking the pinata. A fragile earthen jar—the pinata—is filled with candy, toys and trinkets and suspended from the ceiling.

Guests are blindfolded, spun around, and allowed to hit at the pinata with a stick. When it is smashed, everyone rushes for the shower of treats.

The youngsters of many Latin American countries look forward to January 6—the Epiphany—and a visit from the Three Wise Men when gifts are received.

Children address their letters for Christmas to the Baby Jesus, care of St. Peter in many Latin American countries. And in Colombia it is a custom for merrymakers to masquerade in the streets on Christmas eve. Whenever a friend detects another's identity, he claims a reward.

Plan Your Outdoor Decorations To Protect Evergreens

In decorating the shrubs around your home, which is becoming a more popular Christmas custom every year, plan your decorations carefully so you will not injure valuable evergreens.

Tree experts report that many home owners are giving their evergreens a hot foot with overly-powerful Christmas lights.

These experts advise against using light bulbs stronger than 15-watts. They are bright, but do not generate enough heat to burn foliage, even on direct contact.

Even when using small bulbs, however it is wise to inspect the lights every day or so. If the foliage is turning brown in the vicinity of the lights, then the lights should be moved.

It takes many years to grow beautiful shrubbery and even an outstanding light display at Christmas time is not worth marring valuable evergreens that can be a source of beauty all year long.

Holiday Hazards

Be Careful In Placing, Decorating Your Tree

REGARDLESS of warnings by fire departments and safety officials, millions of American homes become dangerous fire traps at Christmas time. Fire at any time is tragic, but at this happiest of seasons it is more so.

There are a number of simple, easy ways to reduce the hazards of fire in your home during the next few days.

Location of the Christmas tree in your home is of vital importance. Do not let it block an exit, or set it up near a stairway which would provide an upward draft.

Be sure your tree is fresh and it should be kept outdoors until actually needed. When setting it up, stand it in a bucket of water or wet sand and brace it well so there will be no danger of it falling.

It is most important that the decorations be flameproofed or made of noncombustible materials. Lighting sets and extension cords should be in good condition. If in doubt have them tested.

Inspect Tree Daily

Even these precautions are not enough, however. Make it the duty of some member of the family to inspect the tree every day during the holiday season. This way you will know immediately if it has become too dry and should be discarded.

The switch used for turning on the tree lights should be placed some distance from the tree. Never use an outlet or plug under the tree or run electric trains around the base.

There are a few other simple rules that should be observed if decorations are used around the house. Keep them away from chairs and other places where people may smoke. And keep plenty of ash trays handy during the holiday season.

Never Use Candles

It is traditional to have lights in the windows at this season, but never use candles. Keep curtains and other flammable material pulled back at least six inches from any electric light.

And on Christmas morning, or or any other time you open presents, remove all gift wrappings and packing material from the living room and dispose of them immediately.

It can be a happier Christmas if you know there is no danger of fire.

NIGHT BEFORE CHRISTMAS—And not a creature was stirring except young Miss Janice Sande who creeps out of bed to investigate her Christmas stocking. Alas, Santa hadn't reached her house yet!

HAPPY PICTURE — Where can anyone find a happier picture of the joy of Christmas? Here a child receives a gift from Santa, she with the joy of receiving and he with the joy of giving.

Planning holiday party menus and shopping lists early will eliminate extra trips to the store.

A Christmas Message...

God comes to us at Christmas, we do not go in search of Him! This we know when we believe that Christmas really happened. If Christ is Saviour and Lord, then He is always coming to us, seeking us, reaching out to us. We have only to turn and open our hearts and there He is.

When someone asks how can we keep Christmas in such a world as this, what do we say? We say that it was into a world like this that Christ was born; in fact, it was this very world. It is not the circumstances of our lives but the coming of Christ that makes us joyful.

Do we have a sense of expectancy as we celebrate Christmas? Or do we make a brave effort to be gay and try to bring before our eyes for a time the picture of the manger, the Mother and Child, the shepherds and the angels and wise men? If you have tried, then you know how such a picture always seems unreal. The picture fades, as figures on a screen in a theatre fade, because we are not involved; those figures re-created in our imagination never move towards us and take us into the action.

To keep Christmas is not to go in search of what is called "the Christmas spirit"; it is to know that God in Christ is forever moving towards us, calling us to be His people and to do His will. We hear the cries of the suffering and the homeless and the persecuted and God will not let us turn them away. He is drawing us to Himself that His care for all men may show itself in our lives.—Arthur Lichtenberger, presiding bishop, Protestant Episcopal Church.

THERE'S nothing so tempting, so colorful, so tantalizing as a real English plum pudding. For a Christmas celebration they are as much a part of the scene as holly and the Christmas tree. They're not made as often as they were in our grandfather's time, but here is one you'll like to make.

1 pound seeded raisins
½ pound minced orange peel
5 eggs
½ pound brown sugar
1 pound suet chopped fine
1 teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon mace
1 cup Cognac brandy
1 pound currants
¼ pound flour
1 pound stale bread crumbs
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon allspice
1 teaspoon baking soda
Grated rind 1 lemon
Salt to taste

Clean, wash, and dry currants. Add raisins. Mix all dry ingredients well. Beat eggs, add Cognac brandy, pour over dry ingredients and mix thoroughly. Pack into greased pudding mold and steam for 6 hours. When wanted for use, steam another 6 hours. Serve with Cognac or Hard Sauce and bring to the table flaming. (Makes 6 pounds, serves 24 people.) Keeps for weeks in cool, dry place.

Festive Rites Originated In Dim Ages Past

From the dim ages of long ago have come many of the festive rites and customs of our Christmas season.

The symbolic use of a tree dates back at least 4,000 years, when Egyptians celebrated in honor of their Sun God, in the month corresponding to our December. They believed that the sun died every night and was born again in the morning, and that late December and January brought the turning point, when the sun remained with them a little bit longer each day. This was a season of rejoicing, and the palm trees became their symbol, as it put out a leaf every month and the twelve leaves symbolized the complete year.

A few thousand years later came the feast of Saturnalia, also held in December, but the tree the Romans used was a tall conifer, loaded with decorations. Roman legions carried this symbolism over the Alps into Gaul; and about 15 B. C. the tree was used in Yuletide celebrations of the Germans.

Hundreds of years passed, and a tree became the symbol of celebrations connected with the patron saint of Russia and of children—Saint Nicholas, who in his lifetime was Bishop of Myra, in Asia Minor.

Children Need Help To Calm Down For Christmas Season

Many parents dread the coming of the Christmas season because their already active children seem to become more exuberant.

This is natural since Santa Claus and hidden packages, as well as the mad rush of shopping and holiday preparations, stimulates a child's emotions. Sometimes they are so keyed up they are almost hysterical.

Child development specialists believe that by creating a quiet atmosphere in your home and explaining the joys of the holiday, you will help prepare your child for a more peaceful Christmas.

More time should be spent in getting children ready for a reverent Christmas rather than a commercial one. Christmas will be a joy for the entire family when you and the children pause to understand and share together the true meaning of the Christmas message.

Be careful what you tell a child about Santa Claus. Retractions are difficult to make later.

Christmas Carols

Our custom of singing Christmas carols—not as prevalent as in former years—dates back to ancient times when waifs and minstrels sang them in the streets. The first true Christmas carols which spread to many European countries, originated in Italy during the thirteenth century.

San Francisco

San Francisco's first Christmas tree was made in 1850 from Douglas fir branches wired on a stick by a German wine shop proprietor.

Yule Was Not Always Celebrated On Dec. 25

Like Easter, Christmas was once a movable feast, celebrated on a different date each year.

In 337 A. D. St. Cyril, bishop of Jerusalem, with the permission of Pope Junius I, appointed a commission to determine, if possible, the precise date of Christ's nativity.

The theologians finally agreed upon December 25, and since the year 354 this date has been celebrated.

PICK YULE TREE

That Fits Your Holiday Plan

Pick the Christmas tree to suit your holiday plan.

If you intend to keep the tree for only a few days, the Norway spruce has the traditional shape and good color and is perhaps your best buy. Its one failing is that it sheds its needles fairly soon.

Longer-lasting, but more expensive are the balsam fir, Douglas fir and any of the long-needled pines.

Whichever tree you buy, make sure it is fresh and not tinder-box dry. Tree experts say to merely feel the twigs and needles as a test. If they're dry and brittle, look at another tree. If you're not quite sure about the touch test, bang the tree butt on the floor. A shower of needles will tell you the tree is dangerously dry.

For general attractiveness and quality, select the tree that has pyramidal shape branches that come well down to the base and abundant and attractive foliage. This applies to all Yuletide trees for ornamentation—spruce, fir or pine.

A New Year... A New Way

What will you be doing when the clock strikes twelve on New Year's Eve? Celebrating? Celebrating what? The death of the old year and the birth of the new?

Why? Didn't the year past measure up to your expectations? Are you glad to be rid of it? If so—what makes you think next year is going to be any better?

Only you can lay the foundation for a better future—with God's help! If you are to be a better person, if next year is to be a better year, you must include God in your planning.

Here is the opportunity of a New Year! Let us go to the House of the Lord! Let us give thanks to Him for what has been and ask His blessing upon what is to be.

What more perfect beginning could there be to any year?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Is Jesus Lord?

Lesson for December 28, 1958

ONE SUMMER DAY at a resort town then called Caesarea Philippi, the great words were spoken. It was a turning point in the history of Jesus; it was a central point in the history of the world. A small group of obscure men were asked a simple question by their leader, then almost as obscure as they were. "Who do you say that I am?" An odd question, at first hearing. Who should he be, who could he be, but what he was? Jesus was his name, a village called Nazareth once his home, more recently Capernaum. His occupation? Teacher, preacher, healer. A friend (it was said) of the lowest classes; at any rate he always seemed to have time for them.

Dr. Foreman

"You Are the Christ"

These shabbily dressed friends of his, remember had never been to a Christian church in their lives. None then existed. They had never heard or sung a hymn to Christ, never heard a benediction in his name. They had not even heard the expression "Jesus Christ." Humanly speaking, they had no help in their answer. Humanly speaking, they could only have said,—"Who are you? Why, Jesus, of course, our friend and teacher, yes a prophet!".

But one of those men spoke with more than human insight that day. "You are the Christ," he said. A simple sentence; but so profound, so filled with meaning that Peter himself did not then fully realize what he was saying, and all the volumes that have been written about it cannot say the last word. For those were the words on which the Christian church is built. Those are the words which are the key to the future of mankind. That "confession" or affirmation of the fisherman Simon Peter contains in germ the Christian creed: it sets Jesus apart as unique in the human race; it proclaims him King of kings and Lord of all.

Is Jesus Lord?

"Christ" and "Lord" are very high titles for Jesus. Jesus himself knew that some people spoke and would speak of him in this way without meaning a word of it. He made somewhat bitter fun of people who would come around calling him "Lord, Lord," but never listened to what he taught and never did what he said to do. And that illustrates a curious point about the proposition "Jesus is the Christ" or "Jesus is Lord,"—they mean about the same thing—namely that in a sense they are true, in a sense not true. It is true that Jesus is Lord by right, by Gods design and destiny. It is true that he will reign. But is it true that he does reign? He is the Lord by right; but are his wishes respected, his commands obeyed, is he welcome in his own realm?

How the World Moves

At this time of the year, it is good to ask the old question. Is the world growing better or worse? Such a question cannot be answered unless there is some kind of a standard, some point of reference. The world may be growing more to suit you, or less so; that is not the point. The world is more comfortable than it used to be, more literate; but if every one on earth owned a college diploma, would that mean the world was growing better by that much? A preacher would be inclined to take his church as a point of reference. If he has taken in lots of new members, that's a sign the world is growing better fast. But no, a church could be taking in members by the pewful, and still actually be blocking the way to a better world.

The point of reference here suggested is this proposition, Jesus is Lord, meant sincerely, and lived-by seriously. The world is growing better in so far as, and as fast as, the Lordship of Christ (which is always total by right) becomes total in fact. Is the world coming anywhere to recognize him as Lord of life? If the answer anywhere is Yes, more so than ever, then the world at that point is growing better; if the answer is No, there the world is growing worse. Every man can well begin the questioning with himself; for each person is the one part of the world for which—be it better or worse—he alone will be called to account.

Roads Were Not Paved For First Yule Trip

THERE were no modern highways leading from Nazareth to Bethlehem when Mary and Joseph undertook their memorable journey nearly 2,000 years ago.

The way was rough and hard and dangerous.

As far as routes were concerned, there were three. The western route led along the sea-coast and through the plain of Sharon. This route was unpopular with pious folk like Mary and Joseph who shunned the heathen cities rowdy travelers and the ungodly as much as possible.

The shortest route via the fruitful plains of Esdraelon into the mountains of Samaria and through Shechem and Bethel, was not very popular either. The road was tolerable, but steep; however, the Jews had little use for the Samaritans, and vice versa.

The Jordon route, which descended into the Jordon valley and followed the river's east bank around Jericho, was favored by the majority of Galilean travelers who for the Passover and other religious events went down to Jerusalem at regular intervals and knew their way around as well as suburbanites know their way around modern metropolitan areas.

If the Jordon route was a little round-about, it was fairly level—and steeped in Jewish history, from the shadow of Mount Tabor where Joseph did not choose the western route when they planned their very special journey. Whether they chose to go by way of Shechem and Bethel, or around the walled city of Jericho may never be determined definitely.

But, the distance—nearly 100 miles—was, in any case, unrelenting and conquered only by persistent plodding. And when Mary was too tired to go another step, Joseph took the packs upon his own shoulders so she might ride the little donkey which trudged faithfully at his side.

This was a hard journey and Mary appreciated the shelter of the stable that night—no one could have been more grateful or more happy than Mary. And she brought forth her first-born son, and laid him in a manger.

Saul in desperation sought his "witch" of Endor, to the tomb a little before Bethlehem where the first Joseph buried his beloved Rachel.

It is fairly certain that Mary and

WOMEN MAY READ THIS

By GEORGE PECK

(EDITOR'S NOTE: George Peck is President of the Laymen's National Committee, sponsor of National Sunday School and Bible Weeks.)

God ordained that men and women should enjoy equal rights.

We read in the First Chapter of Genesis, 27th verse, that "God created man in His own image, in the image of God created He him; male and female created He them."

Continuing in the 28th verse, we learn that "God blessed THEM, and God said unto THEM, 'Be fruitful, and multiply and replenish the earth, and subdue it; and have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth.' "

Please note God did not say He was giving woman dominion over the earth, nor did He say He was giving it to man—His statement and instructions were given "Unto THEM"—to both male and female.

And so from the beginning of time, it was intended that woman and man should have equal rights.

Unfortunately, somehow in the course of history, man arrogated to his sex, a monopoly of certain rights, contrary to God's injunction that both sexes should have equal dominion over the sea, air and land. When in 1215, King John was forced to sign the Magna Charta, the rights it granted were not for men only—women property holders were given the same rights. Paradoxically, as civilization improved (?) men contrived to monopolize all rights.

When our own great American Constitution was drawn up, the term "men" we hope was used generically, but the Supreme Court (made up of men only) ruled otherwise. So it was not until the 19th Amendment was ratified in 1920 that woman secured the right to vote right here in enlightened America. But the right to vote left women with many rights still denied them. To obtain these rights they now gallantly fight.

While American women were battling for the right to vote, their sisters in many other lands struggled toward the same objective. They were victorious in a number of other countries before our American ladies won their battle. New Zealand was the first to enfranchise its womanhood. It did so in 1893. Australia followed in 1902; Finland in 1906; Norway in 1913; Canada, the United Kingdom and Luxembourg in 1918; Austria, Czechoslovakia, Germany and Poland in 1919; and Hungary, Sweden and Belgium in 1920.

However, before the 19th Amendment became law granting the voting franchise to women on a nationwide basis, some twelve of the individual States had already done so. As far back as 1869, Wyoming, then a territory, gave its womenfolk the right to vote in territorial elections. When, in 1890, it became a State, women were given full electorial rights.

Colorado fell in line in 1894; Utah in 1895; Idaho in 1896; Washington in 1910; California in 1911; Arizona, Kansas and Oregon in 1912; Illinois in 1913; and Montana and Nevada in 1914.

Now, the ladies demand full equality with men on many things still denied them. One man with whom I talked about this matter said to me: "That's the trouble. We gave them the vote, now they demand a lot of other things. We gave 'em an inch and now they grab for a mile. It's the old story of the camel getting his nose into the tent."

Shame on this male and the all-too-many of his sex that share his views. More power to those of the "stronger sex" (I use that term facetiously) who would give the "weaker sex" (that term is really funny) full equality. In a previous article I listed a number of the things that women are still denied. In case you missed that article, I suggest that you write to the National Woman's Party, 144 Constitution Ave., N. E., Washington, D. C. That's the organization that is leading the fight for "Equal Rights for Women," and it's just itching to send you its literature, free for the asking.

The NWP is solidly back of House Joint Resolution 127 and S. J. Res. 80, as are some 28 other women's groups with a combined membership of millions. (These will be listed in a future article.) The House Bill now has 242 co-sponsors and the Senate Bill 37. These companion bills call for an Equal Rights Amendment to be submitted to the several states for ratification. The Amendment reads as follows: "Equality of Rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of sex."

To get this amendment out of the Congress and to the several States requires a two-thirds majority in both Houses. According to my figuring that means 290 in the Lower House (with 242 in the bag, that leaves 48 to go); and 64 in the Senate (37 already committed, leaving 27 short.)

Respectfully, I suggest you contact your Congressman and two United States Senators to ascertain if they've seen the light. If they haven't yet climbed on the women's bandwagon, let 'em know they are missing a good parade.

GOD RAINED BREAD FROM HEAVEN

(This story is based on Exodus 15, 16; Numbers 11:8) Philippians 4:19

HELLO BOYS AND GIRLS! Have you ever felt anxious as to whether or not you will have enough to eat from day to day? Of course not, for you know only too well that your mother and dad, who love you so dearly, will see to it that all your needs are supplied. However, sometimes conditions and circumstances make it necessary for us to turn to a more than human source for help among these lines, and God whose love for each one of us far exceeds that of any earthly parent promises to "supply all your need." He will never disappoint you if you will but take Him at His word, and believe His promise.

In today's Bible story we find that after the children of Israel crossed the Red Sea, they soon forgot all about the mighty miracles which God had wrought for them. After they had journeyed "three days in the wilderness and found no water," they at last, to their great joy saw some water, but soon discovered that it was bitter to the taste. In their keen disappointment, they began to murmur and complain, and to blame Moses for all of their troubles. In answer to Moses' prayer, God instructed him to cast a tree into the waters and "the waters were made sweet."

Later on in their journey, their food supply gave out, and again they murmured, and even wished that they had died "in the land of Egypt." But God in pity performed a two-fold miracle for them. He not only provided flesh for them for which they clamored, but believe it or not, He rained down bread for them from heaven! It was small, white, and round in appearance. They called it "Manna," which means "what is it?" "They ground it in mills, baked it in pans, and made cakes of it." It was not only wholesome, but we read that "The taste of it was like wafers made with honey." Almost makes ones' mouth water, doesn't it?

Just think of it, this bread was their only article of diet for forty long years! It must have been full of vitamins and minerals, for there was not one feeble person among them. This food was provided for them fresh every day, "They gathered it every morning," and none of it was to be kept until the next day. "But some of them left of it until the morning, and it bred worms, and stank." However, on the sixth day, before the Sabbath, they were to gather twice as much to last them over the Sabbath, and, believe it or not, it did not decay, 'neither was there any worm therein." And on the seventh day to remind them that this was the Sabbath day, no Manna fell. So you see, boys and girls, in order for God to test and prove them, and also to develop faith and trust in His daily providing care, God in love brought them through this experience. Do we not pray, "Give us, this day our daily bread?" And so, when in our great need we call upon Him to help us, let us believe that God not only hears us, but that He will abundantly provide for our daily needs.

Legends Vary About First Christmas Tree

There are many legends about decorating the Christmas tree. One dates back to Boniface, who as England's missionary to Germany in the 8th century, "replaced the sacrifices to Odin's sacred oak to a fir tree adorned in tribute to the Christ child".

Others say that the tree and its candles should be attributed to Luther. Another says the practice dates to the Teutonic practice of bringing trees into homes to appease the god-like spirits that were believed to inhabit forest timbers.

But there is a legend more beautiful than all the rest. According to it, when Christ was born a group of stars looked down upon an olive tree, a date palm and a pine tree which stood over the manger.

Seeing that the pine had nothing to offer in His honor while the others gave fruit and dates, they descended from the heavens to rest upon the pine's boughs as an offering—and that was the first Christmast tree.

Letter To The Editor

Oakland, Md.
December 17, 1958

To the Editor,

We read it through each week, especially enjoy the contents from our Editor in the upper left hand corner of the front page. We notice letters are asked for on the different problems of today, even the teen-agers ask the opinion of the adults on rock and roll music. We cannot go places like we use to, but we do read a lot. We are reminded each week in the upper left hand corner of the front page by our editor concerning the Master of the universe. The three most important books are the Bible, the hymn book and the pocketbook. As for the Bible read John, 15th chapter, also 11 Peter, 2nd, 3rd, 4th and 5th chapters. As for the hymn book, when Christian musicians play their instruments with rock and roll rhythm, even while playing such stalwart selection as Onward Christian Soldiers and other great hymns of the Faith, the obvious effort is to glorify the performer, rather than the Lord Jesus Christ, to whom all honor is due. As for the pocketbook, money is what talks, but the dollar today hasn't cents enough to say much.

We are approaching a new year, we think it would be well to take inventory of ourselves as we tell on ourselves by the friends we seek, in the very manner in which we speak. By the way we employ our leisure time, by the use we make of the dollar and dime. We tell what we are by the things we wear, by the spirit in which our budrens we bear. By the kind of things at which we laugh. By the records we play on the phonograph. We tell what we are by the way we walk. By the things of which we delight to talk. By the manner in which we bear defeat. By so simple a thing as how we eat. By the books we choose from the well filled shelf. In these ways and more, we tell on our self. So there's really no particle of sense in an effort to keep up a false pretense. For a good new year I would recommend a recipe written by Mrs. Polly Hanst.

We wish all our friends and neighbors a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

MR. and MRS. J. D. MURRAY.

Stocking Hanging Became A Custom Through Accident

With delight and great expectations every American child hangs his stocking by the fireplace at Christmas time. Thereon hangs a fascinating tale of adventure.

Once upon a time—so the legend goes—kindly Saint Nicholas, who was in reality Bishop of Myra, in Asia Minor, unintentionally originated the custom of hanging stockings by the fireplace on Christmas eve.

Saint Nicholas was a kindly man and jolly, and very rich. He loved to make mysterious journeys into the country and poor sections of the community to bring secret gifts to the poor. For a long time his identity remained hidden, but he was caught at last with his sack of gifts on his back.

Down The Chimney

Saint Nicholas knew an old nobleman who was very poor and who did not want anyone to know of his poverty. Wishing to give him a gift of money Saint Nicholas crept to a window of the house and saw the old gentleman asleep by the fire.

The good Bishop climbed to the roof of the house and dropped his gift down the chimney, thinking it would fall on the hearth at the nobleman's feet.

However, it so happened that the gentleman's daughter had hung some stockings to dry by the fire and the money fell into one of them. From this kindly deed of the good Bishop has grown the widespread custom of hanging stockings at Christmas time.

Died In 1087

The anniversary of Saint Nicholas' death in 1087 eventually became a festival in the Russian church, and in time the name became corrupted to Santa Claus and associated with the festivities of the Christmas season, with its tree, its decorations, the holly and the mistletoe.

These today are the joyous symbols of Christmas.

Flowing Bulbs Offer Variety In Yule Decorations

You can easily force spring flowering bulbs to get continuous bloom throughout the holiday season and late winter.

Narcissi, hyacinths, tulips and crocuses can be potted for flowering. Use only bulbs of best quality. Set them in shallow pots containing soil with good water-holding capacity and drainage. A satisfactory soil mixture is three parts good garden loam, one part organic matter and two parts sand. Fill the pot with soil to one-half inch below the rim, leaving the tips of bulbs barely exposed.

Plant hyacinths and narcissi as close together as you can. For tulips, plant five or six bulbs in a five-inch pot.

Place the pots in a cool place at 40-50 degrees. The soil must be moist while in storage. When the roots are well developed, bring the pots into a warm room for forcing. The plants grow best in full sun and in moderately moist soil.

When the plants are in full bloom, remove them from the sun to a bright location.. The flowers will last longer if you keep them in a fairly cool place.
